Tax Boost Assured as Alternate Plan Fails

WATER RENT INCREASE REJECTED

Council Considers Alternative For Higher City Levy but Abandons It; Act Tuesday

The 1930 tax levy for the city probably will be fixed tomorrow at a session of Council's budget committee.

Indications at today's meeting pointed to a 2-mill increase that would make next year's rate 27 mills on land and 13½ mills on buildings.

Earlier in today's meeting there were indications that some of the councilmen were considering raising the water rent to a point that would make an increase on the property tax unnecessary.

It was pointed out that the city's rate for water is little more than one-ahft the rate charged by some of the private water corporations.

James W. Gray, chairman of the board of water assessors, was called to explain his estimate of the amount of water rents to be received in 1930.

CITY WATER CHEAP

His figures — $2,290,000 — were based, he said, on the assumption that many faulty meters now in use would continue to be used. These meters, he said, were in some cases 20 years old. With meters repaired or replaced the city would gain in revenue.

Determining factors in the tax rate will be Council's action on P. J. McArdle's motion to raise the pay of certain employes and the possibility of paring departmental estimates of other expenses.

McArdle's motion, which will come up tomorrow as a special order of business, provides for the granting of an increase to police-

2 OPERAS HERE CALLED OFF

There will be no performance by the Pittsburgh Grand Opera Company at Syria Mosque tonight and the scheduled production of "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci," for the time being, will remain unsung.

Antonio Rossicco, manager of the company, announced that steps toward reorganization must be made before any more operas could be given in Pittsburgh.

Three performances, which have been given, he declared, proved that Pittsburgh has the talent and the musical spirit for the presentation of grand opera if the public will give the project support.

Thus far the support has been lacking, according to Rossicco, and an appeal has been made to the civic pride of the people to save the day for good music and Pittsburgh's reputation as a center of musical culture.

MARY M'CORMIC

MARY 'GIVES UP' POLA'S PRINCE

CHICAGO, Dec. 16. — (AP.) — Mary McCormic today expressed herself as not at all piqued to learn that Prince Serge Mdivani and Pola Negri, his wife, had effected a reconciliation in Paris and had started on a second honeymoon.

"I think they're very smart—very wise—to try again," said the Chicago opera singer.

Miss McCormic has been twice married.

Upon her return from Europe this year Miss McCormic announced that she would wed Prince Mdivani as soon as Pola and he had secured a divorce

DRAMATIC RECONCILIATION

PARIS, Dec. 16.—(INS.)—After their dramatic reconciliation in the divorce court, Pola Negri and her husband, Prince Serge Mdivani, remained silent and unapproachable in the Hotel Crillon here today, denying themselves completely to interviewers.

Very much like a scene in a motion picture, Pola and the prince flew to each other's arms when they met in the austere surroundings of the Seine tribunal, and still hugging each other in a tight embrace, excitedly ordered the divorce proceedings canceled.

SPAIN-URUGUAY FLIERS NEARING BRAZIL COAST

New Non-Stop Distance Mark Likely; Excellent Weather Reported All Along Route

International News Service.

FERNANDO DO NORONHA, Dec. 16.—Maj. Tadeo Larre-Borges and Lieut. Leon Challes, flying from Seville, Spain, to Montevideo, Uruguay, were approximately 800 miles off the coast of South America at noon today (9 a. m. Pittsburgh time), according to a wireless message received here from the trans-Atlantic plane.

The wireless operator here advised he picked up the plane's wireless at 8 a. m.

The airmen were broadcasting: "All O. K."

The island of Fernando do Noronha is approximately 800 miles northeast of Natal, Brazil.

NEW RECORD POSSIBLE

Weather all along the Brazilian coast is excellent. There is no indication of storms. Aeronautical authorities at Rio de Janeiro believe that, unless some unforeseen accident develops, the fiers should have no difficulty in reaching their destination and establishing a new world's record for non-stop distance flying.

According to word received at Rio de Janeiro the plane was sighted by the Spanish motorboat San Sebastian about 150 miles west of the Capé Verda Islands, flying extremely high. The plane was visible only at intervals through the clouds.

The Cape Verde Islands are about 2,000 miles southwest of Seville and about one-third of the distance to Montevideo.

Mexican Ambassador Accompanies Calles

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—When Gen. Elias Plutarco Calles, former president of Mexico, crosses the Rio Grande late today or tomorrow, he will be accompanied by Ambassador Tellez, whose presence will assure Calles of immunity from arrest by the District Attorney at Laredo, Tex., on a charge of conspiracy to murder. Ambassador Tellez is riding in the same car with Calles. No announcement was made at the Mexican embassy as to the purpose of the ambassador's long trip to the border, but it was assumed that recurrent threats of arrest against Calles had occasioned his journey. The ambassador will return to the embassy next Thursday.

4 DEAD IN FIRE, 14 OTHERS MISSING

3 of Victims in Baltimore Blaze Women; Flames Trap Scores in Plant

BALTIMORE, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—At least four persons died today in a fire in the four-story plant of the Thomas H. O'Connor Waste Paper Company in the downtown railroad district. Firemen recovered three bodies from the building and another victim, whose back was broken in a leap from a third-story window, died in a hospital.

About 50 other employes in the building fled by fire escapes ahead of the rush of flames through quantites of old paper which converted the building into a furnace before the first fire apparatus and ambulances arrived.

Although firemen in their first search found but three bodies in the building, officials of the O'Connor Company said a check of their employes left 14 unaccounted for. The firemen expressed belief many of these would be found at their homes, but began a new search for bodies.

Two of those whose bodies were taken from the building were identified as Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, 42, and Mrs. Annie Campbell, 27. The third body, also that of a woman, lay unidentified in the morgue for several hours.

Miss Tiny Byers died in Mency Hospital, her back broken when she chose a three-story jump in preference to death in the flames.

Six injured women and five firemen hurt fighting the blaze were treated at hospitals.

The fire was believed to have started on the fourth floor, though it burst out so suddenly that firemen could get no definite information of its cause. Its spread through the upper floors was so rapid that the paper company employes there were screaming for rescue before occupants of the lower floor knew the building was ablaze.

One group of women trapped on a fire escape when the sliding ladder stuck were saved by a Negro who climbed to it and pounded the ladder loose with a hammer.

Ruins of Penn Avenue Store After Blast

2 HELD IN BLAST IN PENN AVE.

Two men were held by detectives today following a fire and explosion in a fruit store at 4435 Penn avenue. Battalion Fire Chief H. J. Weihrach estimated damage at $2,000.

The men arrested were Vito Apollo, 47, and his brother, Frank Apollo, of 422 North Mathilda street, owners of the store.

Weihrach testified in Central Police Court today that firemen had found an empty powder can, two 10-gallon kegs believed to contain gasoline, and a jug and can of what appeared to be explosives, in one corner of the basement.

The Apollos were taken to Central Police Station and questioned. They told detectives they had no knowledge of the explosives. They said they left the place at midnight and went home in a taxicab. Police said they arrested them at Forty-fifth street and Penn avenue, not far from the store.

The Apollos have been in business at the Penn avenue address 25 years. Neither has ever been in trouble, police said.

'GHOST' MURDER BOY IDENTIFIED

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark., Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Attorneys for five men who went on trial here today on charges of murdering Connie Franklin, a farm hand, announced this morning that a youth who claimed to be Franklin had admitted that he really was M. Franklin, former inmate of the state hospital for nervous diseases.

The admission was made this morning, they said. Defense counsel indicated they expected this to be an important factor during the trial.

They announced also that his mother had been found near Clarendon, Ark. The woman, Mrs. Lily Baker, was said to be on her way here with the sheriff of Monroe County.

ESCAPE RECORDED

State Hospital records show an "M. Franklin" to have been a patient and to have escaped. The prosecution in the case here has contended that this man and Connie Franklin are the same. Until today this had been one of the prosecution's reasons for refusing to accept as Connie the youth who appeared here last week. He said

Lieut. Lavery and Patrolman Arrested After Suspension For Use of Stolen Car

Two policemen, including a lieutenant, and the manager of an official police towing garage were arrested today, while a second garage man was sought on charges of conspiring to commit an unlawful act in connection with the theft of automobiles.

Those arrested were Lieut. W. J. Lavery, 40, of 255 Edmond street, night lieutenant at Center Avenue Police Station; Patrolman Martin Lappe, 30, of 216 South Mathilda street, reporting at Forty-third street station, and Morris Fried, 22, manager and superintendent of Sable's Garage, 1911 Center avenue. Each posted $1,000 bond for Police Court hearings tomorrow.

HOEY MAKES CHARGES

The fourth warrant was issued for Morris Wolfe, garage owner, 2414 Center avenue. Wolfe had not been apprehended this afternoon.

Informations were made by Inspector James N. Hoey before Magistrate Thomas D. Jones, of Central station.

Sable's garage is authorized by City Council as an official towing station.

STOLEN CAR USED

Specific charges made by Inspector Hoey regarding Lavery and Lappe charged their personal use of a stolen car. According to Hoey, a car reported stolen from Vandergrift, Pa., was towed to the Sable garage as an abandoned machine and used by the two police officers for six weeks.

Wolfe was charged with having had a stolen car in his garage, on which the original numbers had been filed off and a new series stamped in.

Inspector Hoey withheld detailed information until the four men are arrested. He admitted he had conducted an investigation for the past four weeks with Motorcycle Lieutenant Edward O'Rourke. The two policemen were suspended Saturday.

Doll Lady Sends Hurry-Up Call for More Dollies

By THE DOLL LADY

Dear little girls:—I can't tell you how glad I was that yesterday was Sunday.

I had put in a strenuous week and I was really glad to get a rest. But who could get a rest when there are so many little girls in Pittsburgh and vicinity so anxious to get one of my wonder dolls?

Doll Lady

I had all these little girls on my mind all day long, and—try as hard as I could—I couldn't keep them out of my thoughts. I talked to hundreds of girls and their mothers throughout the week—in fact the number ran into thousands, and almost everyone of them promised me they sure would be in for their doll this week.

If they do, they'll each get a big, glorious doll that sings and recites—the only doll of the kind in the world.

You see, I have a happy mission in Pittsburgh. I am here to actually give away dolls to little girls and there are so many hundreds who want them I can't think of anything else.

MORE DOLLS COMING

Anyway, I had a fairly good rest over Sunday and I am up and ready for a big round of receptions starting today.

Yes, the supply of dolls was getting short but I've telegraphed for a lot more. I'm not going to disappoint you. Just come and see me and I'll tell you how to get one

M'KEESPORT ALDERMAN ON STAND IN RUM-RING TRIAL

CHECKS ON FRIEDMAN HEARING

Government Rests Its Case Shortly After Noon; Claim Money Paid Dry Agents

The government closed its prosecution in the McKeesport liquor conspiracy case in Federal Court today, after calling half a dozen former prohibition agents and others to corroborate testimony of its principal witnesses.

Among those called was Alderman A. C. Markus, of McKeesport.

Markus identified a sheet from a docket which had been brought into court on subpena showing that Charles L. Friedman, pardoned bootlegger and star government witness, was defendant in a case brought by Charles Bergstedt, former police chief of Versailles, before the alderman August 11, 1924.

DEFENSE OVERRULED

The nature of the case was not alged, but was believed to have the instance referred to by lman in his testimony which his attorney had failed to "fix."

Charles B. Prichard, attorney for the 21 defendants on trial, objected on the ground that the alderman's case occurred before the time of the alleged rum conspiracy. He was overruled by Judge R. M. Gibson.

Mike Pausic and Julius Schreiber, who pleaded no defense in the rum conspiracy case, called as corroborative witnesses, testified to having had bootleg dealings with Harry Uskovitz, Sam Patz, Louis Klein, Friedman and others named in the indictment.

"VANISHED EVIDENCE"

Schreiber, admitted Duquesne bootlegger, testified that when he obtained liquor from Friedman one of Friedman's men accompanied him on his truck as far as the Riverton bridge, to prevent interference by McKeesport police.

Austin Hughes, former constable for Justice of the Peace Charles E. Reinhard, who is one of the defendants, testified that he had arrested three Italians with a still and 100 gallons of moonshine in Versailles Township.

The case was never heard, he said, as Reinhard informed him the evidence had been stolen.

Reinhard also failed to hold a he ing in the case of James Le s, a Negro arrested for transpo ing liquor, Hughes testified.

"AGENT WAS PAID"

Louis Gardner, a former prohibition agent, testified that he and r agent seized a liquor-laden truck in McKeesport in 1926, and that shortly afterward Harry Markoss appeared. After talking with Markoss, the second agent released the driver and the truck and handed Gardner $50, the latter said.

Adolph Markovitz, a brother of Markoss, testified to having seen Markoss pay $25 to William Englert, former milk inspector, of McKeesport, and $10 to Leo Venebush, former motorcycle patrolman.

ILLINOIS MINE STRIKE FAILS

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Dec. 16.—(INS.)—The bottom fell out of the National Miners' Union "strike" today.

Shouldering their picks and shovels, miners marched to work unhindered by pickets this morning at Mine No. 58 here. At Mine No. 8 at Tovey, storm center last week, 755 men were on the job day.

Miners at Mine No. 9 at Lang have voted to return to work norrow provided troops and deputies are withdrawn from the shaft.

There was an unconfirmed report that deputies had appeared at some unidentified spot between Pana and Taylorville, but this report could not be verified.

Meanwhile no attempt has been made to serve any of the 16 warrants sworn out against Pat Toohey, national secretary of the National Miners' Union, which is fostering the attempted strike. Toohey, unmolested, addressed a gathering of 500 miners here last night, directly across the street from the county courthouse.

THE MODERN SANTA CLAUS—By Quin Hall

JAPAN'S ENVOYS BACK NAVY CUT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Bringing assurances of full Japanese support for President Hoover's policy of naval reduction in plac of mere limitation, the Japanese delegation to the London naval conference arrived here today for a series of conversations with American officials before sailing for England.

While there have been indications that the general political aspects of the problems which will confront the conference will be discussed by the Japanese delegates with President Hoover, Secretary Stimson and American officials during the four days of their stay here, the details of the matters to be taken up have not yet become known.

SEEK 10-10-7

One of the outstanding questions concerning the Japanese navy is that of establishment of a 10-10-7 ratio for auxiliary ships in place of the 5-5-3 ratio established for capital ships at the Washington arms conference. A statement by Reijiro Wakatsuki, former premier of Japan and chief Japanese delegate, yesterday in Chicago that Japan would "insist" upon the higher ratio, has convinced American officials that the Japanese will make this one of their principal issues at London.

WELCOMED TO CAPITAL

The visitors were welcomed to Washington by Secretaries Stimson and Adams and other American officials, who met them at the Union Station.

The Senate today adopted and sent to the White House a joint resolution to appropriate $200,000 for the expenses of American participation in the conference. The House already had passed the resolution.

CHINESE REBEL ENDS LIFE

LONDON, Dec. 16.—(INS.)—Nationalist troops are continuing their vigorous drive against the apparently demoralized Kwangsi rebels, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch received from Hong Kong today.

This dispatch said the Nationalists drove back the rebels 100 miles toward Muchow, where arrangements are now being made to protect foreigners.

Troops of the Shanghai garrison disarmed and captured 250 Kwangsi troops marching aimlessly about the country, according to dispatches from Shanghai. The rebels were captured just outside the western boundary of Shanghai. Their leaders escaped he had never been an inmate of the institution.

The state's witnesses include Tiller Ruminer, the 16-year-old sweetheart of Connie Franklin, who said she saw him mutilated and burned to death the night of last March 9, and Reuben Harrell, a deaf mute, who claims to have witnessed the killing at a lonely spot in the hills of the St. James community.

FIVE ACCUSED

The five men charged with murder are Alex Fulks, Herman Greenway, Joe White, Bill Younger and Hubert Hester.

The Ruminer girl brought about the indictment of the five by testifying before a grand jury. She said two of the men attacked her. She and Franklin were on their way to be married at the time, she declared.

The girl has refused to identify the youth here as her former sweetheart. The Harrell boy also has said the young man is not Connie Franklin.

Before the trial opened today the Stone County grand jury called the youth before it, presumably in an effort to identify him definitely.

SPAIN-URUGUAY OCEAN FLIERS BRAZIL COAST

Challes, of France, today were well out over the South Atlantic, rapidly bridging the ocean gap between the western coast of Africa and the northeast coast of South America in their attempt to fly from this city to Montevideo, Uruguay.

Larre-Borges and Challes took off easily in their white Brequet biplane, powered by a 450-horsepower Lorraine motor. A huge crowd gave them a tremendous send-off.

Their plane was loaded with about 1,350 gallons of gasoline and 200 quarts of lubricating oil. The plane's radio outfit was adjusted to operate on a wave length of 900 meters.

CARRY LIFE-RAFTS

The airmen carried parachutes, two collapsible life-rafts, lifebelts, fruit, chicken, mineral water, champagne and some rum, taking every precaution to safeguard against a possible landing on either sea or some isolated spot on dry land. The gas and oil tanks were equipped with a special valve which would permit their being emptied quickly to give the plane buoyancy should a landing on water be found necessary.

Larre-Borges insisted on an adequate supply of food. This was his second attempt to span the South Atlantic, and on his first, in February, 1927, he had an experience which taught him the value of having plenty of food on hand.

CAPTURED BY MOORS

At that time, determined to be the first to link his native Uruguay with the European continent by air, he hopped off from Marina de Pisa, Italy, accompanied by three companions, including his brother, Glauco.

Their bi-motored plane was forced down in an arid spot of Morocco. After being unreported for some time, they reached Cape Jubi, the prisoners of a Moorish caravan, the leaders of which demanded ransom. Their plane was a wreck, and they had suffered for want of food for several days before being captured by the Moors.

EXPERIENCED COMPANION

Since then funds to make the present flight possible were raised for Larre-Borges in Uruguay. He selected Challes as co-pilot because of the latter's long experience as a long-distance airman.

One of the pioneers of the air trail from France to the East, Challes made a number of memorable long flights, among them one from Paris to Bender Abbas, Persia, and back, then a long distance record of 3,229 miles.

Five successful flights already have been made across the South Atlantic. In June, 1922, the Portuguese, Captains Sacadura and Coutinho, successfully reached South America. In January, 1926, the famous Spanish flier, Ramon Franco, made a similar flight.

Johnson Postpones Oftedal Nomination

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Final action on the nomination of Al Oftedal to be collector of internal revenue at San Francisco, which has been opposed by Senator Johnson (Rep.), of California, has been held up pending an investigation to determine whether he is a citizen of California.

Senator Johnson, who has vigorously opposed Oftedal's confirmation, presented to the committee a statement that Oftedal was a resident of Maryland and therefore was not legally qualified for the California post.

Senator Shortridge (Rep.), of California, a member of the Finance Committe, is investigating the matter.

of these marvelous dolls for yourself.

In all the years I have been giving away dolls, I never gave away so many in a single day as I did last Saturday.

Many little girls were lined up all day long at my Sun-Telegraph headquarters, picking out their big beauties.

None of them was happier than Mildred Vera Hissem, 1339 Laketon Road, Wilkinsburg. Mildred is eight years old, and picked out a brunette. She is about the tenth little girl of the Wilkinsburg district to get a doll.

COME IN, LITTLE GIRLS

While I am writing this, I want to impress on all the little girls the importance of coming in and picking out the dolls they want.

If you earnestly want one, you can come in to the Sun-Telegraph headquarters, select the doll you want, and have it put away with your name on it. Here's a surprise for you. To the first one hundred little girls who come in today and pick out their dollies, I am going to give a present. Each will get a nice little souvenir—one that they will always cherish because it came from the Doll Lady.

Now, my little dears, I am ready to see you all just as fast as you come.

I'll let you hold the wonder dolly in your arms, and I'll have the dolls sing and recite for you.

Please don't wait until the crowds get so big that I can't give you the personal attention I would like to give every little girl.

Just come in and meet me as soon as you can.

I'll be mighty glad to tell you all about my big doll and tell you how you can get one to keep forever.

Well, my dears, that's all for today. I will tell you tomorrow of a great big surprise. See you tomorrow!

men and firemen as approved by the referendum, excepting that the chief and assistant chief of each bureau would be excluded.

BOOSTS "LITTLE FELLOWS"

The motion further provides that an increase of 15 per cent shall be given to all employes now receiving not more than $2,500.

In submitting the budget some time ago, Mayor Charles H. Kline recommended the increase to policemen and firemen; an increase of 10 per cent to all employes paid on a daily basis, excepting those paid the current union scale; and an increase of $120 a year to all salaried employes whose pay was not fixed by Act of Assembly. The latter clause would include employes paid up to $10,000 a year.

The mayor estimated the policemen's and firemen's raise would cost $921,000 and that of other employes $421,000. The McArdle motion was estimated officially to add at least another $100,000 to the latter figure.

Councilman John S. Herron today presented an ordinance increasing the salary of Mayor Kline from $10,000 to $15,000 by authority granted at the last Legislature.

COUNTY RAISE PROTESTED

A committee representing the Building Owners and Managers' Association, the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board and the Chamber of Commerce was preparing today to ask the County Commissioners not to raise the county tax.

Inasmuch as the county budget has not been given out, the taxpayers' committee was not prepared to discuss specific items. It intended to lay before the commissioners the facts in regard to the real estate situation here, as affected by taxes.

'DOT' KING MYSTERY REVIVED

Dying Woman's Confession She Lied When Quizzed May Reopen Inquiry

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—One of America's most famous murder mysteries—the strangling of Dot King, Broadway butterfly—may be reopened by the New York police as a result of information coming to light in Washington during an investigation into the "accidental" death of Mrs. Aurelia Fisher Dreyfus.

Mrs. Dreyfus herself met a tragic end under circumstances almost as baffling as befell her friend, Dot King, whom she had known in New York years ago.

Mrs. Dreyfus, unconscious, was picked up on the concrete boat-landing of the exclusive Potomac Boat Club in Washington early on the morning of October 30 last.

She had either fallen or had been thrown from a balcony. At the hospital she regained consciousness for a fleeting moment.

"LIED," SHE ADMITTED

"I perjured myself in the murder of Dot King," was her statement, according to sworn affidavits of the family.

Mrs. Dreyfus had been questioned in the Dot King case almost seven years ago. Her name, however, had not been made public because of the undesirable publicity. She was known only as the "mysterious blonde" in the Dot King death riddle.

This new evidence of perjured testimony is so compelling that Police Commissioner Grover Whalen and District Attorney Joab H. Banton were expected to reopen the Dot King case.

Mrs. Dreyfus' companion on the night she met her death injuries was Edmund McBrian, New York broker. The Washington police questioned him and pronounced the case "accidental death."

MAN KING WITNESS

Strangely enough, McBrian, the police of New York City recalled today, was one of the principal witnesses in the Dot King investigation of almost seven years ago.

Dot King was strangled in her luxurious apartment at 44 West Fifty-seventh street about 3 o'clock the morning of March 16, 1923. A dazzling beauty, she had several very wealthy friends, including a Philadelphia millionaire, and also a secret lover, Albert E. Guimares, a gigolo, or dancing companion for unattached women.

Guimares was grilled by the police and cleared on an alibi.

McBrian supported Guimares' alibi. He assured the police that Guimares was telling the truth when he said they had dined together and that he—Guimares—returned to the hotel at 2 a. m., remained overnight and had breakfast next morning with McBrian and the "mysterious blonde," McBrian's comrade.

The New York police are particularly eager to learn what else—if anything—Mrs. Dreyfus said beyond her statement that she had perjured herself in her Dot King testimony.

Bigger Federal Fund For Highways Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—(INS.)—Expansion of the federal highway building program by increasing the government's 50-50 contribution from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000 a year was advocated before the House Roads Committee today by Gov. Fred Green, of Michigan, and others.

Declaring highway building is not keeping pace with development of auto transportation, the Governor said an accelerated program is necessary.

Driver Faces 6-Year Term for Fatality

The pedestrian struck by his car died and the new code provides imprisonment for six years for drivers convicted of responsibility for accidents causing death.

"Dapper Dick" O'Neil, 29, 128 West Thirteenth street, Homestead, blacksmith, who, police say, shot Elizabeth Bohasick, 29, Shady avenue maid, because she wouldn't help him patch up their quarrel, had lost his debonair air today.

The girl, whose home is at 1406 West street, Homestead, is in the Montefiore Hospital with two bullet wounds in her body. O'Neil is in Central Police Station. Dr. M. R. Goldman and Dr. Thomas Schubb, of the hospital staff, announced today that the girl probably will live.

"I don't know why I did it. I had been drinking a lot. I know I didn't wait for her just to shoot her," he told Robert Burke and Frank Dodson, homicide detectives, Burke said.

Police said they arrested O'Neil near the home of D. Goldman, 1205 Shady avenue, where the girl was employed. Lieut. McArdle and Precinct Detectives Hugh Duffy and Jacob Robitzer said he admitted shooting her, and showed them where he threw the gun.

Miss Colby attended the Foxcroft School in Virginia and made her debut at a dinner dance given by her parents here December 16, 1927.

Mr. Vanderbilt is the son of Mrs. Paul Fitzsimons of this city and Newport, and the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, and a nephew of Gen. # 'JEKYLL AND HYDE' BANDIT LINKED TO CHICAGO MASSACRE

DANE HUNTED FOR GANG KILLING

'Wealthy Business Man' Role Punctured as He Slays Motorcycle Policeman

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Dec. 16.—Frederick Dane, hunted throughout the Middle West as a murderer and bank robber after an amazing "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" existence in this city, was linked by police today with the famous St. Valentine's Day massacre in Chicago.

Dane, who posed here as a wealthy business man, was identified from Chicago police photographs as a "master gangster" long sought in the garage killings of seven followers of "Bugs" Moran last February, and in other crimes. He was said to have operated under many aliases, including those of Fred Burke, John Burke and Thomas Brook, and rewards totaling $41,500 have been posted for him.

'ARSENAL' IN HOME

The luxurious home on the fashionable Lake Shore drive which he purchased three months ago proved a veritable arsenal, police finding there two machine guns, a sawed-off shotgun, two high-powered rifles, bags and cans of shells and tear bombs, with $319,850 in securities stolen November 7 in a holdup of the Farmers and Merchants Bank at Jefferson, Wis.

To acquaintances here, Dane, or Burke, had posed as the owner of a string of oil stations in and around Gary, Ind. He also was known as "Herbert Church, of the Columbia Commercial Feed Company, Chicago," a mythical concern.

His downfall came Saturday night when, after a minor traffic accident, he shot and fatally wounded Charles Skelly, 30, motorcycle policeman, rather than go to police headquarters for questioning. He forced three persons to aid him in escaping after wrecking his ow ncar in his getaway.

MAN HUNT ON

With one of the biggest manhunts ever staged in the Middle West under way, local police examined pictures of wanted Chicago gunmen and identified Dane as Burke. A woman, arrested as Dane's wife when his house was raided after the slaying of the motorcycle policeman, was said to have confirmed the identification, and to have admitted she was not married to Dane.

WOMAN HELD

The woman is being held on a warrant charging her with receiving stolen property, while a first-degree murder warrant is out for Dane, or Burke. Police Chief Fred Alden said he had a telegram today from Richard Anderson, of the Des Moines (Ia.) police department, saying the woman posing as Dane's wife had served 12 years for murder and robbery in the Missouri State Penitentiary and that she was known there as iVola Daniels and iVola Dane.

The message said Dane had been known in Des Moines as James T. "Cornbread" Burcheil. It added that a former acquaintance of Dane located in Des Moines had admitted that Dane was the leader of the band of robbers who robbed the Jefferson (Wis.) bank on November 7.

According to Chicago police records communicated to local authorities, Dane or Bunrke has police records in eDtroit, St. Louis and Louisville.

TRAILED THROUGH TOWNS

After fatally wounding Patrolman Skelly Saturday night, Dane drove his car to the southern limits of St. Joseph, where he wrecked it. He forced Monroe Wolf, a member of the House of David colony at Benton Harbor, to drive him south to Stevensville. Dane appeared at the home of Steve Kooney, a German who had worked for him at his Lake Shore Drive mansion, and made Kooney drive him to Coloma, 12 miles northeast of here, in Kooney's truck. They passed through the outskirts of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph. The trail was lost at Coloma.

The securities found in Dane's home were identified by Berrien County officers Sunday in telephone conversation with L. H. Smith, president of the Jefferson bank.

DOCTOR ORDERS VARE TO QUIT POLITICS

Condition Does Not Justify Leader's Entering Race For Senate Kirby Says

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 16.—(AP.)—William S. Vare's days of active leadership in politics are at an end if he heeds the advice of his physician, Dr. Ellwood R. Kirby, of Philadelphia.

Dr. Kirby visited Mr. Vare here for the fourth day in succession and found the veteran leader "100 per cent improved" and well enough to take a stroll on the boardwalk, but even the improvement, in Dr. Kirby's opinion, does not justify Mr. Vare's entering the primary senatorial campaign, or any other.

URGES WITHDRAWAL

Although Mr. Vare has not yet been told flatly to keep out of the campaign if he wishes to prolong his life, Dr. Kirby has stated, and reiterated after his visit to the Vare home yesterday, that he will definitely advise his friend and patient to withdraw from the campaign which Mr. Vare announced he would wage "for vindication" and a seat in the Senate to which he was elected three years ago, but from which he was recently excluded.

NYE VOTE DELAYED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—Action on the Nye resolution, declaring Senator Joseph R. Grundy (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, "not entitled to his seat in the Senate," was postponed until tomorrow morning by the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections today.

The resolution would exclude Grundy because of his $400,000 contribution to the 1926 primary campaign fund of Gov. John S. Fisher, of Pennsylvania. The committee undoubtedly will find that Grundy was legally appointed.

PROHIBITION SHIFT WINS IN SENATE

Approval Given Hoover Plea For Congressional Study Of Enforcement Agencies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—A resolution to carry out President Hoover's request for appointment of a joint congressional committee to consider the reorganization and concentration of prohibition enforcement agencies was adopted today by the Senate and sent to the House.

Approval was finally given the resolution sponsored by Senator Jones (Rep.), of Washington, without a word of debate. It was presented to the Senate during the extra session after Mr. Hoover sent a special message to Congress asking the creation of the commission.

HEARINGS AUTHORIZED

Vice President Curtis would name the Senate members of the commission and Speaker Longworth the members from the House. Hearings would be authorized and a report within this session of Congress would be provided.

On the basis of this study the administration hopes to carry out the reorganization of the prohibition enforcement service. The President has proposed that most of the enforcement agencies be transferred from the Treasury Department to the Department of Justice.

BROOKHART WANTS BUTLER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—What America needs to be bone dry is Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler in charge of prohibition enforcement, Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, declared.

Brookhart flayed "high society," "the social lobby" and "the foreign element" for lax observance of the prohibition amendment. In addressing a mass meeting of drys at the First Congregational Church at which Clinton W. Howard, national chairman of the United Committee for Law Enforcement, presided.

'SOCIETY' BLAMED

"If Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler were head of this general enforcement law we would have immediate success," declared Brookhart. "He failed in Philadelphia only when he reached high society and the hotels and he didn't get the backing he was entitled to get from the state and the Federal government."

Brookhart declared Federal judges should hand down more drastic penalties to bootleggers.

Speaking of prohibition law violations in Washington, Brookhart said:

"High officials think they can organize social dinners and violate law and laugh about it. I want to see the cabinet cleaned up, too. That will be a long step ahead in prohibition enforcement."

BIG CITIES FLAYED

Dr. Howard, re-elected chairman of his organization at its sixth annual meeting, termed New York City, where he is waging his latest campaign, as a "rum-cursed city."

"The frontiers of America today have now moved to Fifth avenue and Broadway, New York City; Pennsylvania avenue in Washington, D. C., and Washington street in Boston," he declared.

8 GREENSBURG MEN ON TRIAL

F. A. Maddas, Greensburg banker and president of the Greensburg Brewing Company, and seven other officials and employes of the company were to go on trial in United States District Court today charged with violation of the national prohibition act.

Maddas and his employes are charged with violation of the dry laws by selling "wort," a material used in the manufacture of beer.

It is a test case, disposition of which will affect hundreds of plants throughout the country.

Defendants besides Maddas are J. B. Dietrick, treasurer; E. S Gerard, secretary; H. T. Malley, general bookkeeper; Edward Roberts, bookkeeper; Charles Luebbe, of Pittsburgh, alleged distributor, and Frank M. Winters and Alois S. Gruber.

All the defendants were indicted by the federal grand jury November 21 as the result of seizure by prohibition agents of 79 cars of "wort" at Luebbe's warehouse and a raid on the Greensburg brewing plant.

Quits G. O. P. Over Prohibition Hypocrisy

DETROIT, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Henry B. Joy, president of the Joy Realty Company, has filed his resignation from the Detroit Republican Club, at the same time launching an attack against the Republican party for its prohibition policies.

"I resent the fanatical attitude of extremists toward the alcoholic beverage question and the total hypocricy in high official places," Joy said, in giving his reason for resigning from the club.

PORTER BILL ON HAITI BALKED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—The House Rules Committee today deferred action on the Porter resolution to authorize the President to appoint a commission to study the situation in Haiti, asserting the "measure is vague and indefinite as to its purpose."

The committee decided to meet again this afternoon to give its members time to obtain more information as to the intent of the measure.

The cruiser Galveston, which was ordered to Haiti at the outbreak of the recent disturbance, is to be withdrawn from Haitian waters tomorrow.

The State Department announced today that Brig. Gen. John H. Russell, American high commissioner in Haiti, had reported that the situation in Haiti was quiet.

POPE CREATES SIX CARDINALS

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Six new cardinals were created by Pope Pius XI today in a secret consistory. In his allocution read to the assembled college of cardinals at the beginning of the ceremony of creation he stressed the recent happy solution of the "Roman question."

Three of the new cardinals are non-Italians and three Italians, bringing the sacred college up to a strength of 63 out of a possible 70. After today's ceremony the so-called "foreign cardinals" were still in a majority, their numbers being 33 against the Italians' 30.

The six elected to the sacred college were Archbishop Cerejeika, of Lisbon, who has the title of patriarch; and the following archbishops Laviatrano, of Palermo, Sicily; Minoretti, of Genoa; Macrory, of Armagh, St. Patrick's original see in Ireland, and Verdier, newly-named to the see of Paris, recently made vacant by the death of Cardinal DuBois; and Monsignor Eugenio Pacelli, papal nuncio to Berlin.

Referring to the settlement, the Pope said:

"We showed ourselves extremely condescending and in truth we believe that our having been then so condescending will in the course of years not result in damage to the cause of saving souls."

'Pickpocket Queen' Evades Warrant For Six Years

A 6-year-old bench warrant, issued November 26, 1923, by the late Judge J. C. Haymaker, was served on Margaret Riley, 40, known as the "Queen of Pickpockets," in Criminal Court today. She was remanded to jail by Judge H. H. Rowand pending trial.

When first arrested here, she was released when Fanny Brice, stage star, furnished $10,000 bond. She failed to appear for trial. Later she reappeared and posted new bond.

Arrests and intervening jail terms, one in New York and one in Detroit, prevented her return here until last week. There are two indictments charging larceny against her.

Mrs. Riley told detectives she is anxious to have all the old charges cleared against her so that she can rejoin her family. She is the mother of 11 children, seven of whom are living.

CO-ED 'PEEPING' SUSPECT FINED

A young man who was accused of peeping in the windows of the Margaret Morrison dormitory on the Carnegie Tech Campus was fined $50, with the option of 30 days in jail, in Morals Court today.

The dormitory chaperon, Miss Eleanor Gruver, also an instructor in English, told of two co-eds reporting the man's presence outside the house about midnight.

Police were telephoned, but the visitor departed. Later, on description, police arrested a youth who said he was Joseph Leon, 19, of Cedarville street.

Leon explained he was merely walking past and took "a casual glance."

MAN KILLS WIFE AND 7 CHILDREN

Vet Ill, Jobless, Fears Santa Will Pass By

A World War veteran and his family, consisting of his wife and four children, face the possibility of a cheerless Christmas.

The man, Leo D. Corbett, 115 First street, Aspinwall, was released Friday from the Marine Hospital where he was confined by a bronchial affection, developed in the service.

He is out of work and has hunted vainly for employment which his condition will stand. He receives $50 per month from the government as compensation, of which $40 is spent as rent for the three rooms which the family occupies.

Corbett says he is willing to work at any type of employment which will enable him to support his family. His wife now works in the laundry at the Marine Hospital and all her wages must go toward feeding the four children.

Unless someone can offer employment to the husband and father the Christmas season will have but little meaning for his family, Corbett says.

FLU CHECK HELD 'PREMATURE'

CHICAGO, Dec. 16. (AP.)—Declaring the furore caused by Dr. Isadore S. Falk's announcement of the isolation of the germ causing influenza to be inexcusable, the Journal of the American Medical Association in an editorial of the current issue denounced the announcement as "unwarranted."

Dr. Falk made announcement of his discovery Friday.

The editorial in the medical journal, which is edited by Dr. Morris Fishbein, follows, in part:

"With little if any apparent warrant, it is again announced for at least the tenth time in five years that the positive organism of influenza has been discovered and that it is hoped to prepare vaccine. There is thus far little or no evidence in scientific medical literature or even in spoken addresses to indicate that I. S. Falk, P. H. D., and his associates have progressed any further toward the solution of this problem than have workers in other parts of the world, now or in the past."

Dr. Falk is professor of hygiene and bacteriology at the University of Chicago.

Informed of the editorial on his work, Dr. Falk replied:

"All I can say is, I made my report before the Bacteriology Club of the University of Chicago and the evidence will shortly be in print in more detailed form."

HEIR PROPOSES WILL FIGHT END

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—A petition for authorization of an out-of-court settlement of the $1,500,000 estate of William ("Billy") McClintock, Jr., was on file in the Superior Court here today on behalf of William Eaton, an heir, an inmate of the state hospital at Agnew, Cal.

William D. Shepherd, who once was accused of poisoning McClintock, would receive $750,000 under the terms of the petition. Shepherd was acquitted in Chicago of the charge, which was brought by heirs to the estate.

The petition also would give a $200,000 share of the estate to Miss Isabelle Pope, of Chicago, McClintock's fiancee. The remainder would be divided among nine heirs, Eaton receiving $70,000. Setting aside of the will made by McClintock on attaining his majority in 1924 also is provided for in the agreement, which calls for an arbitrary distribution of the estate among the claimants.

ANOTHER HOAX IN HORST CASE

WOOSTER, O., Dec. 16.—(AP.)—The bubble of hope for the return of Melvin Horst, 4, missing Orrville boy, either dead or alive, had collapsed today.

A story related to Special Prosecutor Walter J. Mougey, in charge of the Horst investigation, that the boy's body would be exhibited to him by a youth who had killed the child with an automobile, proved to be, in the words of Mougey, "just another one of those things."

A letter written to the editor of the Orrville paper last Thursday, promising the return of the Horst boy alive, failed in its prediction.

The Horst child disappeared from his home a year ago this month. During the interval, Elias Arnold and his son, Arthur, were tried and convicted of charges of child-stealing, won appeals and were acquitted of the same charges at a second trial. The search, which has engaged county authorities and private and amateur detectives, has proved fruitless.

'PEKING MAN'S' SKULL FOUND

PEIPING, China, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Scientists hinted that 10 skeletons unearthed simultaneously with an unbroken skull found in the quarries at Chow Outien, 30 miles from here, may be the nearest approach yet made to finding the ancestors of the human race.

The skull was unearthed by a Chinese geologist, who claimed it belonged to a species of the famous "Peking man," the "sinanthropus Pekinensis," said to be associated with the period of the Piltdown skull and the Java ape man.

While the scientists who knew of the discoveries were sworn to secrecy, it was understood here that they regard them as perhaps the greatest human find ever made. The skull as well as the ten skeletons were said to be in a splendid state of preservation. The scientists continued their search in the hope of finding more skulls. Nine of the skeletons were headless.

HEAPS OF BONES FOUND

The discoveries were made in the same limestone quarries where the "Monkey Man" jaw teeth were found in 1923. The location of the skeletons was said to have convinced the discoverers that the ancient home of a distinct type of primitive man had been uncovered.

It was understood that the scientists believe that with the various skeletons as well as the complete skull, they have material enough to reconstruct the entire drama of the life of the pre-historic colony, or at least to sketch a portrait of man as he existed in the region of Peiping more than a million years ago.

In addition to the human skull and skeletons, the fossil skull of a rhinoceros has been found in the quarry. Also there were uncovered heaps of bones believed to be those of other animals. Many of the bones were clearly broken, as if by human hands, possibly, the scientists believe, by hungry men seeking marrow as food.

The scientists were unable to account for the fact that ten scattered skeletons were found, while only one skull was located. One theory advanced was that the limestone bed might have been a burial ground for persons who had been beheaded, and that the heads had been deposited somewhere else.

Dr. J. G. Anderson, Swedish advisor to the Chinese geological survey, and other searchers are searching eagerly for the heads. Walter Granger, paleontologist for the American museum of natural history, in New York, visited the quarry in 1927. Granger is at present in New York.

FIRST TRACE IN 1920

The first trace of the "Peking Man" was discovered in 1920 by Dr. A. Zdansky, a Russian, who found a tooth near the site where the latest discoveries have been reported. A second tooth was found by Dr. Birger Bohlin, a young Swedish scientist, and was identified and named by Dr. Davidson Black, an American at Peiping Union Medical College.

Dr. Black placed the "Peking Man" on a stage of development between the modern human and the Anthropoid apes. The time estimate of 1,000,000 years ago as the period in which the "Peking Man" inhabited the district was based on recent advances in geology whereby the earth's age and that of its living creatures is calculated at far higher figures than it was a few years ago. By that scale, the "Peking Man" was believed to antedate the Neanderthal man, and to be about contemporaneous with the Heidleberg man of Europe.

THOSE who served Puritan Turkeys Thanksgiving time, know how good they were. We sold 51% more than the year before. But Puritan Turkeys at Christmas time are going to be still better . . . better because they have had the advantage of several additional weeks' development and careful feeding by the farmer.

These turkeys, freshly dressed, thickly padded with both white and dark meat, deliciously flavored, containing natural juices that add to their flavor, are the Puritan Turkeys that are building up an envied reputation for McCann's . . . a reputation that is now about as widespread and deep as is our reputation for butter. That's as it should be, too, for we put into these turkeys just as much effort as we do into the butter we sell.

This Christmas every family can afford a Puritan Turkey for this is an unusual turkey season. There will be plenty of the smaller-sized turkeys at McCann's. Think what this means! A family of five or six can enjoy the best turkey it is possible to buy at a cost of approximately $3.50. # HEADS ON PIKES GREET CONSULS

TOKIO, Dec. 16 — (AP.)—A gruesome spectacle of a number of human heads stuck on spikes greeted the American, British, French, Japanese and German consuls from Harbin when they arrived at Pokoto (Ebukedu) station on their way to the Russo-Manchurian front to investigate conditions.

A Japanese correspondent with the party traveling on the International train described the sight and said the heads were those of Chinese alleged to have been decapitated for looting.

The consuls hope to push as far west as Manchuli but the Chinese commander at Pokoto refused to guarantee their safety beyond the Khingan Mountain range. He agreed to permit the train to go forward to Meintuho for which the party started. The consuls were told that the Chinese front line was withdrawn to that town, about 75 miles southeast of Khailar.

At Meintuho the consuls hope to be able to communicate with Russian authorities and to arrange to proceed to Manchuli over the railway which Soviet workmen have repaired.

POISON VICTIM PASTOR'S KIN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—A young woman whom police had sought to identify ever since she took poison in a fashionable Washington church four days ago, regained consciousness long enough to tell them that she was Antoinette Brewster, the wife of a man named "Ruggles."

She said that she was the daughter of the Rev. George W. Brewster, pastor of the Christian Church, of Selma, Cal.

After giving this information to Police Capt. William G. Stott, in gasping words and affirmative nods, consciousness slipped from her again.

The words from the girl confirmed information police already had gleaned from a baggage check. They had kept a constant watch at her bedside hoping to learn more of a narcotic ring she was said to have mentioned shortly after she swallowed the poison.

Wife No. 1, Accused In Shooting, Sues Wife No. 2

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Mrs. Helen Louise Andrade, in jail accused of attempting to kill her former husband, Albert F. Andrade, wealthy Arizona and New Mexico land owner, has filed a suit for $100,000 damages against Mrs. Judith Lavender Andrade, charging alienation of affections.

Mrs. Helen Louise Andrade alleged the man legally still is married to her and [illegible] daughter of the late John [illegible] ender, shipping magnate, "wilfully, maliciously and unlawfully" enticed her husband away from her.

The woman was arrested after Andrade had sworn to a warrant charging her with ambushing him at the home of his mother-in-law and firing five shots at him and the second Mrs. Andrade.

WOMEN PILOTS ORGANIZE

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—The Eighty-Sixes—the first national organization of licensed women pilots in America, and credited with being the first in the world—has just been organized here.

The name "The Eighty-Sixes" refers to their number—their ages vary from 18 to 40.

The purpose of the organization, which was formed at the home of Mrs. George Kunz, wife of a New York jeweler and a licensed pilot, is "to promote good fellowship among licensed women pilots, encourage flying among women and create opportunities for women in commercial aviation."

Its headquarters will be in New York and its membership will be open to any licensed woman pilot in the United States.

Within its ranks are some of America's best known aviatrices.

Among them, Amelia Earhart, Ruth Elder (Mrs. Walter Camp, Jr.), and Viola Gentry.

They selected the following sectional chairmen to preside over various districts in the country.

Gladys O'Donnell, West Coast; Phoebe Omlie, Middle West; Joan Shankle, New England; Louise Thaden, of Pittsburgh, for Pennsylvania; Blanche Noyes, Ohio and Michigan; Laura Alexander, Southeast section, and Margaret Thomas, Texas. These sectional chairmen will act as the governing board.

Gov. Burgess said he will ask for $2,000,000 to continue work on the Madden Dam, now under construction as an adjunct to the Panama Canal. He said that already a total of $1,250,000 has been appropriated for the dam, but that $12,000,000 will be needed to complete the project.

ADMITS KILLING WIFE, GIVES SELF UP

St. Louis Murder Suspect in Washington Pa., Jail, Held For Extradition to West

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 16.—"I feel comfortable for the first time in more than a year," was the statement made by Charles Wurtz, aged 26, of St. Louis, Mo., who walked into the county jail here Saturday and demanded that he be taken prisoner for the killing of his wife in St. Louis on June 24, 1928.

"You can't imagine the strain of going around the country knowing that you are wanted for a violation of the law and feeling that every policeman you see wants to place you under arrest," said Wurtz.

"It's a great relief to be in jail."

Assistant District Attorney Donald R. Hall was directed by District Attorney Schinal to get in touch with St. Louis authorities.

A message sent there brought the immediate response that Wurtz was wanted for the killing of his wife.

Wurtz was taken before Alderman I. E. Goodridge and formally charged with being a fugitive from justice. He will be held until the St. Louis authorities arrange for his extradition.

STEEL PLANTS REPORT GAIN

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 16.—Steel companies in the Youngstown district advanced production an average of 10 per cent this week, for a 56 per cent average, against 48 per cent for last week. It is believed this change for the better marks a definite upward trend benefiting the mid-west industry. Open hearth furnaces, sheet, pipe and strip departments are principally affected.

At Warren, the Republic Iron and Steel Company operates all three of its strip mills, and such schedules are the best in the past two months. Following the usual suspensions for the holiday observance, it is believed the industry will gain steadily, though moderately at first.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube operates at 45 per cent for the week, and Republic Steel at 60 per cent; Newton Steel, 50 per cent, and Carnegie Steel plants, 60 per cent.

Volume of orders for automobile production is slowly rising, and is stimulating production throughout the Mahoning and Shenango Valleys.

Seven Christmas Windows

By Baitz

Institutional Windows have long been a feature at Kaufmann's. This year, a famous Viennese artist has dramatized, in seven scenes, the story of Noah's Ark. In each window is an explanatory rhyme to remind the youngsters of details that they may have forgotten. In these windows is a splendid union of that childish love of the gay and the grotesque, with the dignity which properly belongs to any treatment of a biblical theme. There are dozens of strange animals . . . such as a child might imagine. There is good old Noah, with a fine Patriarchal face, and his picturesque family. These windows have never before been shown in America. We are happy to bring them first to Pittsburgh.

STORMS BLOCK ANTARCTIC QUESTS

British Research Expedition Anchored at Tiny Volcanic Island Filled With Birds

By SIR DOUGLAS MAWSON, Commander of the British, Australian and New Zealand Antarctic Research Expedition.

HEARD ISLAND, Antarctica, Dec. 14.—(Radio via London)—Anchored in Corinthian Bay, an exposed harbor on this tiny island, scarcely 2,300 miles from the South Pole, the Dis- covery was today still beset by the storms that have been rag- ing since her arrival.

Heard Island appears to be en- tirely of volcanic origin, culmi- nating in a peak 7,000 feet high, of a gigantic volcanic cone, whose rocky slopes, hidden beneath heavily crevassed glaciers, at many points reach the sea.

On the day of the Discovery's arrival from Kerguelen Island, the weather was good and a mag- nificent panorama of the moun- tain was exposed, but within two hours all was shrouded in the usual impenetrable cloud and henceforth the weather continued from bad to worse.

ISLAND EXAMINED

Capt. John King Davis, master of the Discovery, decided that Co- rinthian Bay, though very exposed to northwest and east winds, was the best berth, and consequently anchored the Discovery there. As communication shoreward was difficult, owing to the high seas, I decided to land nine members of the expedition's staff for a sev- eral days' examination of the island.

A launch towing the Fram pro- ceeded around the coast to Atlas Cove, where a sealing company recently erected a hut in a splen- did landlocked bay suitable for small craft. A second trip com- pleted the landing. The hut is situated on a peninsula separat- ing Corinthian Bay from Atlas Cove. This dividing headland consists of ropey lava basalt from two small modern and now ex- tinct craters.

The lava flows are already vegetated with moss and grass and other herbage, closely scat- tered with the innumerable bur- rows of several species of prions. The peculiar calls of these sea birds are heard beneath one's feet all day, as I previously recorded in my description of Kerguelen Island.

NESTS OF GULLS

Scattered over the surface of the vegetations are frequent nests of both the dominican and skua gulls. The last named are true sea hawks, taking a great toll of the prions as they seek nests. In order to escape capture, the prions often hurry abroad and home- ward during the dusky evening hours.

The hatching season is in full swing. There are innumerable colonies of penguins along the shore. The phenomenon is inde- scribable—the chatter of the bird is only eclipsed by the aroma of his rookery.

The homing rock-hopper pen- guin rivals in abundance the golden-browed macaroni species, whose massed ranks extend up the slopes to heights of 500 feet. Less obtrusive are the scattered colo- nies of the gentoo penguins, a local breed of an unusually well- developed variety.

As one inspects these rookeries, conspicuous white sheathbills un- concernedly prosecute their nefari- ous role of robbing eggs, even pulling them from under the brooding birds. Looking from our hut across the beautiful circular bay, herds of sea elephants are seen lining the shores, log like, except for an occasional form which raises its bulk from slumber to emit a raucous roar.

Real Folks to Do 'Carmen' On Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

WITH George Cehanovsky, famous operatic baritone, singing for the Family Party over WCAE, and the Real Folks doing "Carmen" a la Thompkins Corner over KDKA, both at 9:30 tonight, fans should have their fill of the ridiculous and the sublime.

Outside of a western romance on the Empire Builders, KDKA at 10:30 there is nothing in particular to get excited about. Other programs will bring us the customary potpourri of music and radio drama.

The Stars Now Present

To settle an argument, did Amos and Andy ever speak over KQV?" asks George Shires, of Braddock. ANS: They never appeared in persons over KQV but for almost a year they were heard by electrical transcription, or phonograph recordings.

The Pittsburgh firm that sponsored Amos and Andy on records paid $300 a month for the privilege.

HOW MANY COWBOYS?

Dorothy Huey, of Brownsville, want to know:

How many cowboys there are in Otto Gray's Band.

Whether they use music during their broadcasts:

Who "Mommy Gray" is, and

Whether they use whistles to play the "Mocking Bird."

All good questions, Dorothy. There are five cowboys. Mrs. Otto Gray is "Mommy Gray." They come right in the studios in chaps 'n' everything and to our knowledge have never looked at a sheet of music when before the microphone. We have watched them several times.

These boys have been raised on Texas prairie and know little of mechanical effects in music; subsequently they do not use whistles for the "Mocking Bird." They whistle naturally and cause a staccato effect by placing the hand over the mouth. They have many novelties and are exceptionally clever. "The Old Brown Jug" is their favorite.

WHEW! John S. Young, who makes his advent as guest announcer with the Family Party tonight, attended Yale with Rudy Vallee, turned to law, gave it up for playwriting and when his brain child was rejected by the dramatic world, took up radio announcing just in time to spurn an appointment to West Point.

One of the best Masonic bands in the country will play over WPG at 10:30 this evening.

* * *

We understand Paul J. Miller did an excellent job reporting the Tech-Southern California game. Congratulations, Paul!

TODAY'S TID BIT:

When the collection cup was passed around at Seth Parker's last night, each one was asked to name the amount he contributed. The first person—we think it was Laith—said "40 cents" and there was a lone clink in the tin cup. Is there a 40-cent piece?

45 PIANOS LOANED FREE

Forty-five Pianos (Grands, Players and Uprights, both new and used instruments) will be placed in homes of Pittsburgh and vicinity and they may be used until we need them—which will be an indefinite time. We have discontinued eight of our large branch stores, and are placing these instruments in our "Frederick's Annex," located at 915 Liberty Avenue. Instead of storing and holding these pianos for the regular price, we are going to slaughter the prices and take our loss now. If you have ever thought of buying a piano, now is the time. We do not wish to place our instruments in storage and all Pianos not sold outright will be placed in the homes of families who are interested in owning a piano in the immediate future, and for the valuable advertising we will receive by having good families use them. We reserve the right to select the homes in which these pianos are to be placed.

Positively No Charge For Anything

No carriage, no rent or any expense whatever. You must call at the store to make your selection. There are no strings to this offer, which comes but once in a lifetime.

Gossip From Movie Studios and Reviews of New Photoplays

STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY 'SWELL GUYS' AS WELL AS COMEDIANS

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Former Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 16.

THREE years ago a slim blue-eye blond divided his time twixt the Hal Roach scenario department and the grease paint. A more generously proportioned brunette was in regular stock. The two were minor characters, occasionally, in the same picture.

Stan Laurel

Those were the days when Roach lined up names like Theda Bara, Lois Wilson, Priscilla Dean, etc., paid them $10,000 to make a two reeler and surrounded them with stock actors.

Came a morn when another commedian was needed. A rush call. Enter the clap to team with the more generously proportioned brunette. The picture was finished. It was shown in the projection room. Roach spotted the two comedians. He put them together in a picture of their own. They've recently been "discovered" by the ultras and today they rank prime flick favorites.

Introducing, please, Stan Laurel and Oliver "Babe" Hardy.

They're a couple of swell guys, Stan and Babe. They don't take their art for publication. They're startled by their success. They work hard but they have a lotta laughs.

My introduction to them was a "Lulu." We were chewing the rag peaceably when suddenly a little, serious faced fellow behind horn rimmed glasses plucked Mr. Hardy's sleeve.

"May I see you a minute, Mr. Hardy?" timidly.

Mr. Hardy frowned. "I'm busy." And turned his back.

"But Mr. Hardy," persistently.

"I tell you I'm busy!" roared the furious Mr. Hardy. "Now get out!"

Wham! and Mr. Hardy's broad palm caught the little fellow on the chin. Clunk! Mr. Laurel's foot kicked with deadly sureness and caught the same spot. The little fellow staggered backwards.

By this time, my eyes had popped to the floor. Suddenly Mr. Hardy doubled up and shouted and Mr. Laurel grinned delightedly.

"We practiced that one for you," gurgled Mr. Hardy.

Whereupon I picked up my eyes and came to.

Hardy and Laurel Fool Reporter

THE little, serious faced fellow behind the horn rimmed glasses is named Pete. He's an ex-acrobat who quit the game when he injured his leg in a fall. He works for the Laurel-Hardy troupe. And when he gets walloped on the chin he doesn't get walloped "atall." Seems his hand catches the blow. A dumb chick like yours of today's date wouldn't be knowing that, however, without careful and laborious explanation.

Oliver Hardy

Stan and Babe are at present completing a two-reeler yclept "Blato." Both claim they play the title role. Jimmy Parrott is directing. This department apologizes to Jimmy for spelling his name correctly. It will not happen again.

'Tis said—said, mind you—that Famous Players intends remaking three of its early silent hits. To wit: "Monsieur Beaucaire," Peter Ibbetson" and "The Affairs of Anatole." Rudolph Valentino brought Beaucaire to the screen. Buddy Rogers is reported to be scheduled to do likewise for the talky. Wallie Reid and Elsie Ferguson co-starred in "Peter Ibbetson" of yore, and Wallie also starred in "The Affairs of Anatole."

I don't recollect the former picture, but I do recall that "Anatole" was to Schnitzler's play what a Zane Grey story would be to Elsie Dinsmore. Still, the outloud, if more faithful than less, should be beaucoup interesting.

Thelma Again Playing Vamp

SCREENALITIES: Louise Fazenda knows one Christmas present she's due to get. A Ford coupe. With love and kisses from husband Hal Wallis . . . Apropos of absolutely nothing, when an Englishman wants to take his drink straight he calls for it to be "neat." . . . Thelma Todd espied strolling across the Hal Roach lot made up to look like a none-of-your-business vamp. Yep, frizzled blond hair, snaky negligee and all . . . This bureau marvels at what the older generation is coming to. Take Anita Stewart's mother. Mrs. Stewart informed me in no confidence "atall" that she is chasing around with a handsome lad. Of course, Anita is trying to handle the situation tactfully, but that mother of hers tells her in no uncertain words that tact rhimes with tack. Isn't that a nice state of affairs? . . . And have you heard William Collier Sr.'s subtle warning about Christmas Scotch? says he: "Have a care. Remember the old adage. Two is a complex. Three is a shroud." . . . Ann Harding and her husband, Harry Bannister, are building a hillside home. They couldn't agree upon the type of bath for the master bedroom. So they compromised. They built two baths opening off the same room. There's domesticity de architecture . . . And—that's all.

Thelma Todd.

Inspiration

Merna Kennedy, as the girl friend in "Skinner Steps Out," film in Harris, inspires the hero to business and social success.

McKees Rocks Moose Name New Dictator

Norman E. Rowe has been named dictator by the McKees Rocks Moose to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of A. J. Haser. The change became effective at once.

ENRIGHT FILM HAS LOTS OF JEALOUSY

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

"Jealousy," starring Jeanne Eagels, is the current talkie in the Enright. It is, incidentally, Miss Eagel's last in the effort as somewhere between its completion and its release the Greatest Director of All gave the talented emotional actress a cue that has taken her from the scene forever.

The film story is that of a girl with a past who marries a man with a jealous nature. Naturally, this leads to complications—and the complications lead the husband into committing murder. Which makes for anything but a happy ending. Yet, the finale is quite novel. It is marked by a fainting heroine.

MOVIE CHANGES

"Jealousy" originated in the French and later was produced as a stage play by A. H. Woods, with Miss Eagels also in this version. There were only two characters in the entire action of the stage drama. But the movies have changed all that but hardly for the better. In the picture there are five principal characters and a lot of traditional movie trimmings.

Miss Eagels, of course, is . . . as the wife. And Frederic March plays the jealous husband.

SOME NIGHT LIFE

"Night Life," is the stage show. In it Jay Mills goes back to his cane and tall hat and does a song and a dance. A number of imported entertainers, the stage band, the Rockets and a couple local ballroom dancers are included. The effectiveness of the scenic display is spoiled by electric-lighted ads of future Warner photoplays flashing large in the background.

Frank Roberts has replaced Milton Slosser at the organ.

Hours They Begin

HOURS at which feature photoplays begin in first run houses are in accordance with the following time schedule:

PENN: "Return of Sherlock Holmes" 10:10 a. m., 11:38, 2:01, 4:24, 5:47, 8:10 and 10:35 p. m.

STANLEY: "Tiger Rose"—11:38 a. m., 1:59, 4:20, 5:57, 8:17 and 10:20 p. m.

ALDINE: "Woman Trap"—9:46, 11:49 a. m., 1:52, 3:55, 5:58, 9:01, 10:04 p. m.

GRAND: "Glorifying the American Girl"—10:49 a. m., 12:59, 3:09, 5:19, 7:29 and 9:39 p. m.

ENRIGHT: "Jealousy"—1:54, 4:09, 6:02, 8:17 and 10:32 p. m.

HARRIS: "Skinner Steps Out"—12:30, 3:54, 6:27, 9:35 p. m.

SHERIDAN SQUARE: "Rio Rita"—12:33, 2:52, 5:11, 7:31, and 9:50 p. m.

HARRIS SHOW INSPIRES LAUGHS

By QUIN HALL

"Skinner Steps Out," current in the Harris, is an entertaining moving picture. It was made to inspire laughs. It succeeds. There is nothing heavy about it—not even an erring wife—but if you need to be jostled into good humor as you anticipate your holiday bills, here's the remedy.

What the story is doesn't matter. What does matter is that one laugh follows another. It is a talkie, and for history's sake it should be told that it is the story of a $30 clerk who bluffed his wife that he was the fellow who decided things at the office. Complications follow when hubby, wife and the boss meet.

ACTIVE MR. GRAFF

As for the stage show, even if you haven't fond memories of ceremonies, you'll find action. Victor Graff, the master, is satisfying the audience that he is an able director of entertainment. The show moves swiftly. Graff surprises his severest critics by strumming the banjo, and Carol Lynne, who learned her a-b-c's in Greensburg, unfolds a novelty act which is at least the best novelty act ever to leave Westmoreland County. There are other acts.

Usually this is a poor business week for the theaters, everybody busying himself with Christmas shopping. The Harris management has shown typical good judgment by setting up a program constituted to make you laugh—and forget the wife's hints for a new sable.

PITT COMEDY ONLY PLAY OF WEEK

Mabel Kroman will be seen in the title role of "Sis Hopkins" when this comedy is presented by the George Sharp players in the Pitt tonight.

The Alvin, dark this week, will reopen next Monday night when Ethel Barrymoore arrives in Pittsburgh to present her repertory company here in two dramas. The seat sale opens this morning for "The Kingdom of God."

The Nixon, also dark this week, will have Earl Carroll's "Vanities" as its next attraction. The production will open next Monday night with W. C. Fields, comedian, in the stellar role.

"Chic Two-Piece Frock"

Pattern 8834

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

A flattering diagonal bodice closing, a front skirt panel that seems to point upward because of the unusual cut of the bottom of the coat, and a side pleated skirt, combine to create a delightfully wearable sports frock.

A light weight tweed fashions this smart rig, particularly lovely in mixed shades of brown and beige or black and white. Bone buttons fasten the coat in front, and trim the sleeve bands. Other suitable fabrics are jersey, kasha, wool crepe or velveteen.

May be obtained only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires three yards of 54-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

ANTI-DOPE BILL SUPPORTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Representatives of national wholesale and retail druggists have indorsed in principle the bill of Representative Porter (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, to smash the illicit dope traffic, it has been learned.

Following approval the measure by Dr. William Gerry Morgan president-elect of the American Medical Association, the attitude of the druggists and pharmaceutical manufacturers is regarded as highly significant.

A committee of five appointed by the National Drug Trades Conference has held a long discussion with Porter concerning the aims and effects of the bill. At Porter's request they are preparing a memorandum presenting their complete views and the attitude they will take when the measure is called up for passage in Congress.

Those attending the meeting were Carson P. Fralley, of Washington, vice president and secretary of the American Drug Manufacturers' Association; Samuel C. Henry, of Chicago, executive secretary, National Association of Retail Druggists; Dr. J. H. Beal, of Camp Walton, Florida, representing the American Pharmaceutical Association; William L. Crounse, of Washington, representing the National Wholesale Druggists' Association, and A. G. Du Mez, of the University of Maryland.

"I think there is no disagreement that we all indorse the bill in principle," explained Dr. Beal.

FOX ARRANGING NEW COMPANY

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(INS.)—All of William Fox's motion picture properties, including Loew's Inc., will be consolidated into a new holding company and the dividend rates of the affected companies maintained without interruption, according to a story current in New York film circles today.

The decision to create a new holding company, it is said, was made recently by the three trustees appointed by Fox to control his interests. Letters announcing this plan are said to have been mailed to the majority of the holders of the short term obligations of the Fox company.

Fox's original plan was to consolidate his holdings into the Fox Film Corporation. Last September stockholders of the Fox Film Corporation approved an issue of an additional 4,000,000 shares of Class A stock of the company.

3 COMMUNISTS TO SERVE TERMS

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Dec. 16.—Pete Muselin, Tom Zima and Milan Resetar, convicted Communists, of Aliquippa, spent the week-end in the Beaver County Jail. They will be taken to the Allegheny County Workhouse by Sheriff William V. Kennedy, County Detective Charles O'Loughlin and Sergt. John Mulaney, of the State Police, shortly after court convenes today.

The three Communists, arrested Armistice Day, 1927, had appealed the sentence of five years to the workhouse by Judge W. A. McConnel. H. H. Wilson, Beaver, attorney for the men, asked the court to give his clients credit for 27 days served in the county jail while they were waiting to furnish bonds immediately after their conviction and sentence by the court, two years ago.

FALK GIVES $10,000,000 TO CHARITY

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

MEMBERS of the Eightieth Division, better known as the Blue Ridge, can tell you more than one story about what was what in France. Here's one from "The Company Clerk."

"'Orders are orders,' we were told in the army. The orders regarding displaying light near the front were frequently emphasized in no uncertain terms.

"A story is told of the Three Hundred and Nineteenth Infantry. Col. Cocheu had issued orders that there was to be no smoking while the column was passing along a certain road under observation by the Germans. After each halt, as he glanced back in the darkness, he saw the lighted coals from cigarets flying through the air into the ditch.

"Calling the adjutant, the Colonel said, 'Go back there and see that my orders are carried out—no smoking.'

"The adjutant returned and reported, 'Colonel, your orders are being obeyed. What you saw must have been the illuminated dials of the men's wrist watches.'

"'Well,' replied the Colonel, 'Go back and tell the men to stop throwing away their wrist watches.'"

Gen. Albert J. Logan's Better Traffic Committee has brought Capt A. B. Hickox, former auto racer, and Mrs.

Hickox to town to teach the natives safety. The captain tells the story of the husband who sped through a red traffic light on order of the back-seat driver.

"Why?" the traffic cop asked him.

"'Officer,' the husband whispered, "I had to choose between being bawled out by you or the wife. Go right ahead."

A WILKINSBURG Sunday school teacher advised her pupils to toss a crumb or two to the birds during the cold spell.

The following Sunday she asked one of the pupils whether he had done so.

"Well," he answered, "my father told me it was all right to feed the birds, but not to give them damsparrows a thing."

SLEUTHS SEEK THUGS AFTER HOLDUPS

Three Men Robbed, Purses Stolen From Four Women; Auto, Store, Homes Looted

Detectives today were investigating three holdups, four purse snatchings and a series of other robberies which were reported over the week-end.

Alton J. Roth, of 361 McKee place, was held up by an armed Negro in Fairfield lane late Saturday night and robbed of $35.

Held up by four Negroes at Bedford avenue and Crawford street, late Saturday night, Joseph Catich, of 16 Second avenue, Conway, was relieved of $128, according to police.

CAR RIDERS ROBBED

Two men attacked Peter Ambrose, of 103 Grant street, at Third and Liberty avenues, and robbed him of $36.

A Negro robbed Mrs. Esther Cappacio, of 521 Paulson avenue, of her purse containing $8.50 at Mayflower street and Paulson avenue, while another, operating near the West Penn playgrounds, robbed Elsie Pendzich, of 3023 Brereton avenue, of $5, police said.

Riding in street cars Saturday night, Mrs. George Swaney, of 190 Forty-fourth street, was robbed of her purse which contained $52, and Mrs. Eliza Easton, of 5705 Rural street, was relieved of her bag containing $35, they reported to detectives.

Groceries and clothing valued at $100 were stolen from the home of Dr. John Mackrell, of 3944 Liberty avenue.

SAXOPHONES STOLEN

From the store of Louis Americus, of 25 Drummond street, a $100 watch and $1 in cash was stolen. A window in the place was broken.

Two saxophones valued at $450 were stolen from the automobile of T. Maglisco, of the Nixon Cafe, while it was parked in William Penn way.

Mrs. Elsie Piszkowsky, of 988 Parkwood road, reported the theft of jewelry and clothing valued at $200 from her home early yesterday. The burglars jimmied a rear window of the house.

POST INITIATES CLASS OF 45

Vesle Post, American Legion, McKees Rocks, yesterday initiated a class of 45, bringing the membership of the organization above the 200 mark.

Yesterday's meeting was open to the public and there was a large attendance of interested persons. State Commander Van Zandt and a retinue of state officials, Past Grand Commander Robert G. Woodside, county officers and members of the Veterans Bureau were in attendance.

FISHER SCORED FOR NAMING GRUNDY

Dr. Goldenson Declares New Senator Foe of Laws to Aid Women and Children

Denouncing Gov. John S. Fisher's appointment of Joseph R. Grundy to the United States Senate, Rabbi Samuel H. Goldenson, speaking on "Politics and Morals" in Rodef Shalom Temple, Fifth aveue, yesterday, declared that Grundy's career has been one of opposition to child and female labor legislation, and lobbying for the moneyed interests.

"If America is to continue to go on as a democracy where money controls politics, instead of a system whereby there is equal opportunity for all classes as stated in the Constitution, I am fearful to predict the future of this nation, now the wealthiest and most powerful on the globe," he said.

HITS STATE INDIFFERENCE

Referring to the Senate's refusal to seat William S. Vare because of excessive expenditures in the primaries of 1926, Dr. Goldenson said:

"The most significant thing about Vare's expulsion from the Senate was the general indifference to the matter about the state. Ordinarily, shame or righteous indignation should have followed the Senate's action. Had some other nation acted toward America as did the electors toward the sovereign state of Pennsylvania by refusing to accept the Philadelphian, some emotion would have swelled up within us."

URGED POLITICAL ETHICS

The speaker pictured Vare as a weary man, confessing penitence, spiritual uneasiness and accusing the Senate as having been unfair to him.

Dr. Goldenson urged that morals and ethics be injected unto state politics, declaring that "although church and state have been separated, there is no reason for the exclusion of morals from politics."

East Liberty Church Seeks New Pastor

Announcement is made that the pulpit committee of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Collins avenue and Station street, East Liberty, has opened negotiations with a minister, sought as pastor of the church. The present pastor, the Rev. John L. Ernst, will leave the latter part of January for Detroit, Mich., where he has accepted a call.

Thieves Loot Store Of $1,300 Cigarets

Thieves early today jimmied a rear window in the Pittsburgh Smoketeria Company, 3707 Sennot street, and stole cigarets valued at $1,300, according to a report to the Detective Bureau.

AUTOMATIC "BRAKEMAN" HANDLING BOXCARS

BOX CAR AT PITCAIRN ON CAR RETARDER, DEVICE THAT SLOWS IT, ELIMINATING YARD BRAKEMAN ON EACH CAR

CAR RETARDER IN OPERATION

Pittsburgh district's first car retarder system was formally put in operation at the Pitcairn yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad Saturday afternoon.

A special train, in charge of J. G. Dennis, freight trainmaster of the Pittsburgh Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, carried a large number of railroad men and manufacturers interested in the new system from the Union station to the Pitcairn yards.

The installation of the car retarder system at Pitcairn is one of three concurrently built and put in service by the railroad. The retarders will be subject to tests under actual operating conditions the next few months and upon their performance will depend the probable placing of orders for additional installations.

The new system retards the speed of the cars as they leave the hump by means of a set of tracks inside those which the car's wheels pass over. The inner tracks can be compressed against the shoe of the wheel, thus squeezing them between two rails and retarding the speed of the car as it rolls down the hump to the yards. The car retarder facilitates the work of making up trains and, according to many railroaders, reduces cost of such work. Without the retarder it is necessary to have a man on each car to check its speed as it leaves the hump.

The system was installed at Pitcairn at a cost of about $600,000.

SETS ASIDE FUND FOR MEMORIAL

Seven Trustees Are Named To Supervise Program Extending Over 35 Years

Maurice Falk, philanthropist, today announced a new gift to Pittsburgh, his native city.

It is the creation of a $10,000,000 foundation for the public welfare, to be established as a memorial to his wife, Mrs. Laura Falk.

Seven managers functioning as a board will expend the entire amount during the next 35 years. Named the Maurice and Laura Falk Foundation, its organization will begin immediately, and its benefactions early in 1930.

WEALTH A TRUST

In a statement announcing his gift, Mr. Falk said:

"It is my firm belief that any surplus of material wealth which may come to a man is properly to be regarded as a trust to be employed for the welfare of mankind. I count myself fortunate, through the Maurice and Laura Falk Foundation, to be able to translate this principle into practice during my lifetime. In looking forward to the action that has now been taken, I had, while she lived, the warm sympathy, encouragement and devotion of Mrs. Falk, and it is as a memorial to her that the foundation has been established."

Immediately after announcing the establishment of the foundation yesterday, Mr. Falk left for Pasadena, Cal., where he will spend the winter months, in accordance with his habit of many years.

The board of managers, which has the power to fill its own vacancies, will be composed of Leon Falk, Jr., E. T. Weir, I. A. Simon, Frank B. Bell, Nathan Jacobs, Eugene B. Strassburger and A. E. Braun. The Farmers Deposit Trust Company is made depositary of the securities. It is understood that announcement will be made of the selection of a director and staff for the foundation within a short time.

BEQUESTS MANY

The Falks have been long known for their interest in philanthropy. The $900,000 Falk Clinic and Dispensary, which is to be a part of the medical center of the University of Pittsburgh, ground for which was recently broken, is the combined gift of Maurice Falk and his brother, the late Leon Falk, and the representatives of Leon Falk's estate. Maurice Falk for years has devoted much of his time and effort to philanthropic undertakings and has been identified with many public-spirited projects. He and his brother were owners of the Duquesne Reduction Company and largely interested in the Weirton Steel Company, the Edgewater Steel Company and other enterprises.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: Do people have the same feeling for Christmas now as they did in years gone by?

OSCIE GARVIN, Beaver Falls: "Christmas isn't losing its importance as a holiday. The attitude of the public is on the increase in favor of its true and proper observance. As people grow older they study and observe the true significance of the Yuletide as one day of cheer and good will to mankind in general. Gifts merely seal this expression of mutual cheerfulness. That's what I believe."

Oscie Garvin

R. L. DEMPSEY, North Side: "One should never forget the significance of the Yuletide season. Christmas is the greatest Christian holiday of the year. It is looked forward to for months and remembered long days in the future. I don't feel as though it could be celebrated any better than we are doing now. The spirit is here. An exchange of gifts climaxes the day and season."

R. L. Dempsey

LETTIE EIFLER, Sheraden, stenographer: "There is more interest taken in Christmas now than ever before. The average individual is filled with the Christmas spirit of 'good will' this year more than in days gone by. The holiday seems to make the whole Christian world kin. Even the department stores, public utilities corporations and commercial enterprises go to greater trouble and expense to make the holiday an enjoyable and significant one, than was their policy some time back."

Lettie Eifler

THELMA MOTHERSBAUGH, Wilkinsburg, clerk: "Christmas will never change. The individual, whether it be man, woman or child, observe the occasion now with as much, if not more, fervor than they did in the past. Most of us believe that the real pleasure is in giving gifts rather than receiving, for the pleasure they afford to others. But there are some selfish ones who think the day an occasion for their own personal gain."

Thelma Mothersbaugh

J. M. RYAN, Avalon: "The spirit of Christmas has changed a lot. The average person doesn't observe it as much as he did in days gone by. Not as many gifts are exchanged. For many, Merry Christmas greetings suffice. The day is a big one for children, I believe, and for that reason they should have the greatest gift treat of the year. They would be terribly disappointed if they were not taken into consideration."

J. M. Ryan

BURTON H. CRAWFORD, Avalon, clerk: "More beautiful decorations, the co-operation of civic and commercial organizations and municipal governments in making these possible, proves beyond a doubt what the public thinks of Christmas. Sales in stores and the number of gifts exchanged are further evidence of the significance of the day. Reports are that sales will be greater in 1929 than ever before. What further data could one want?"

Pittsburgh Girl Killed, Fiance Hurt in Crash

Miss Anne Bond, 20, of Steubenville and Pittsburgh, was killed, and her fiance, Herbert Blazier, 22, of Baden, near Beaver, was hurt seriously yesterday when their auto crashed into a culvert on the Pittsburgh-Steubenville highway near Florence, Pa.

The car overturned after striking the culvert, and Miss Bond was crushed in the wreckage. She was dead when taken out. Her companion was unconscious and was badly cut and bruised. He was taken to an emergency hospital at Weirton, W. Va.

The couple was en route to Steubenville to visit Miss Bond's mother, Mrs. Cora E. Bond, to announce their engagement, which was to have terminated in an early wedding.

Miss Bond had been connected with a Pittsburgh department store for the past year. Blazier said the accident was caused by another car which sideswiped his machine as it was passing, forcing him off the highway. The other car did not stop.

Will Rogers Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 16.

These are tough times in this country to express an opinion. A college professor down in Heffland casually remarked, "that while Jonah might have swallowed the whale, or vice versa, he personally didn't have enough digestion to even swallow the story."

The school offered up a prayer for him, but no further salary. That will be a lesson to him to lay off Jonah in his future monologues.

Then Gen. Smedley Butler started doing a little reminiscing out loud about some of the old-time antics of the Marines in Nicaragua, and now he is to face a senatorial firing squad. So from now on I even believe in farm relief.

Yours, WILL.

THINKING IT OVER :-: By Hal Coffman

"Avez-vous plantez les choux?" the French ask in one of their nursery rhymes. You will translate that, of course, "Have you planted your cabbages?"

A peculiar question in this country, where few of us ever see a cabbage except on the table. The French mean, probably, that by planting cabbages when you are young you will have something to eat when you are old. Then you can sit all day in the shade of the old apple tree, if sitting appeals to you.

Mr. Coffman makes a similar suggestion here, though his cabbages are dollars, which are better known and faster-growing in our climate.

Like everything else, of course, they will not grow unless they are planted.

The elderly gentleman shown under the apple tree planted his cabbages in youth, and now watches others working in the patch, from which he has retired permanently.

He seems quite happy about it too. That may puzzle you for a moment, but your intelligence will soon clear up the mystery.

Many persons are investigating the Sun-Telegraph's offer of free lessons in the fundamentals of playing the piano.

The statement that the new method covers in three months the ground formerly covered in two years has been especially interesting to the musically-minded Pittsburgher, it is said.

The Wurlitzer Music Foundation music school is giving the instruction. A mechanical keyboard is used instead of a regular piano. The keys and their positions are taught by means of melodies, instead tedious lessons in scales.

The learning imparted is necessary to anyone who wishes to understand fine music, authorities, say. Persons wishing to play the piano are able to skip most of the first tiresome lessons, while learning just as much.

To take this course, it is only necessary to obtain three 26-week

MRS. CAROLINE LEWIS READING AT HOME

Woman, 102, to Cook Own Christmas Breakfast

INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 16.—Mrs. Caroline Lewis, of West Lebanon, Indiana County, will celebrate her one hundred and third Christmas this year. Whether she decides to go visiting or to stay at home, her day will be a busy one, for this centenarian possesses an energy worthy of a person one-half her age.

Mrs. Lewis will rise at 6 o'clock Christmas morning, just as she does every other morning of the year, and will prepare breakfast for herself and her "hired girl," Mary. She permits Mary full sway in the realm of cleaning, laundry work, dishwashing, and fire building, but she claims the cooking and baking as her own particular province.

LIKES TO COOK.

"I always have liked my own cooking better than anybody else's," the old lady told her interviewer with emphasis, "and that's reason enough, I reckon, for doing it even if I am 102 years old."

Last election day, neighbors came to take her to the polls so that she could vote for the first time. She declined to go with them because she was making bread.

After her Christmas breakfast, Mrs. Lewis will spend an hour or so studying her Bible. She has started to read it through again and hopes to finish it before her death.

Because her dependence upon Providence is great, she will take no credit for her age. Nor has she any formula for longevity.

"I'm living because the good Lord has allowed me to live," she said, almost impatient at being asked for the explanation of such a simple matter. "Of course, I've taken good care of myself, too, but it's God's providence that I'm alive and healthy today."

If any neighbors or relatives call on this sprightly centenarian and ask her to go with them for a Christmas automobile ride, she will accept with the eagerness of a 16-year-old girl. She likes modern inventions and does not hesitate to use them.

"I go in an automobile whenever anybody asks me," she asserted. "I'm a little afraid of horses and I wouldn't want to ride in an airplane, I reckon, but I never worry in a car."

This old lady has also adopted the telephone with enthusiasm. Although she is somewhat deaf, she can hear much of what is said to her over the 'phone and employs it as a means of keeping in touch with the world outside the farmhouse where she lives alone except for a servant.

Before she ends her 103rd Christmas by retiring at her usual bedtime, 8 o'clock, Mrs. Lewis may write to her 92-year-old brother, Dr. John E. Wilkinson, of Automnah, Ia. Until ayear ago she also made most of her own clothes and she still mends them when they need it.

BRAVES SNOW STORM

"Aunt Carrie" may spend her Christmas in quite another way than the one described. Perhaps she will do on that holiday as she did on Thanksgiving when she braved a snow storm and journeyed 10 miles to the home of a nephew, W. L. Neal, of McIntyre, Indiana County, to attend the Neal family reunion.

Riding as far as an automobile could take her,she walked through snow-covered fields to the house. At the dinner she sat at the head of the table and asked a blessing upon all present.

LOCK ON TRUCK BROKEN ON WAY TO AIRPORT

Search Along Route to Field Fails to Reveal Clues; Valuables Taken

Search was still being made today by postal authorities for the pouch of air mail stolen Saturday from a mail truck en route to Bettis Field. The pouch contained registered packages and letters. Little information was given out by Postal Inspector G. V. Craighead, who is in charge of the search.

Herman R. Fields, 38, mail truck driver, discovered the loss of the pouch when he arrived at the flying field Saturday. The rear door of the truck was open, although Fields remembers clearly, he says, that he locked the rear gate upon starting from the central postoffice.

Postoffice inspectors believe that the lock on the rear door was opened and the pouch removed while the machine was slowly ascending a steep grade near the field. It is necessary for trucks to travel in low gear while ascending the grade and this would afford an opportunity for persons to tamper with the lock.

Although a thorough search was made along the route from the downtown office to the field, no trace was found of the missing pouch.

MYSTERY FIRE ROUTS EIGHT

Two families were routed late yesterday by a fire of mysterious origin which destroyed a two-story frame residence in Logan's Ferry. Damage was estimated at $6,000.

Mrs. William Brown was baking pies in her kitchen when she discovered one of the walls aflame. She notified her husband, her four children and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Middleby, who were in the house, and they fled to safety.

Parnassus firemen were notified, but the house was destroyed when they arrived. Neighbors formed a bucket brigade and saved two adjoining houses.

RUM BOAT FIRED ON; ESCAPES

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Coast guard patrol boat CG-197 yesterday fired 200 shots at a rum runner which was nearing the American shore at Woodlawn, on Lake Erie near this city, but the liquor boat escaped into Canadian waters after it had thrown its cargo overboard in order to increase its speed. So far as known, none of the shots took effect.

One seizure was made in the vicinity, however. The Cora May, which coast guard officials say is a rum runner, was confiscated after she had been found disabled, with a broken rudder. The boat was empty, but customs men believed she either had unloaded her cargo before losing her rudder or had transferred her load to a sister rum boat.

An aviation marker with 10-foot letters has been painted on top of the Castle Shannon Hotel, owned by Mrs. M. A. Schenot. The work was done by her son, Leo P. Schenot, chief of the Castle Shannon fire department. This is done in line with other municipalities to aid airmen in the Bettis Field and Pittsburgh airport areas.

DUNCAN WARNS OF UNWISE CHARITY

Minister Says Problem Is Proper Distribution, Not Collection of Donations

The problem which faces charitable Pittsburghers each year is not the raising of sufficient funds to help the needy, but that of proper distribution of finances and gifts, the Rev. Dr. W. Wofford T. Duncan, pastor of Emory Methodist Episcopal Church declared yesterday morning in his sermon on Christmas charity.

"The human heart is moved at Christmas time as at no other period of the year, to give to those who are in physical distress and to make the heart of children glad," Dr. Duncan said. "The Christmas problem is not getting money for these objects but the proper distribution of it. It is not too much to say that thousands of dollars, generously given and generously distributed by well meaning people, will be wasted, and in some instances worse than wasted, within the next few days."

PAUPER DANGER

Continuing, Dr. Duncan said in part:

"The ease with which needy families become paupers is alarming. The loss of self-respect contributes to this end. The publicity which attends most of the Christmas giving tends to pauperize. Jesus knew when He said 'Do not your alms before men.' Those who deal with needy families throughout the year have discovered the pernicious influence of publicly distributed Christmas baskets and the uselessness of the vast distribution of toys and candy in the orphanages. Yet there are many good people who feel that to give up these public distributions would be cruelty to the poor. Just the reverse is the case.

REDUCE POVERTY

"If all of these public distributions were given up and the money used by trained workers to strengthen families on the verge of pauperism, poverty in Pittsburgh would be tremendously reduced and pauperism would soon be eliminated.

"To rid Pittsburgh of its poverty should be the aim of every Christmas donor. Doubtless it is the aim of many who still use the outworn methods; yet not a single contribution is made to this end by all the Christmas baskets, toy and candy disposal and public dinners combined. It is hard to make people see this, but it is a fact nonetheless."

Overbrook Names 3 More Policemen

Overbrook council at its regular meeting appointed three new policemen, which it is believed will end the controversy existing between the councilmen and the burgess. The appointment is in keeping with the plan to name as many men as possible so that when the borough joins Pittsburgh, January 1, the appointees will be in line for positions providing they pass the civil service examinations.

"White Way" Nears For Brentwood

Lights of the 1,000 candle power design are being installed along Brownsville road, Brentwood, and within a week or two the entire system will have been installed, it is reported. This will complete the "White Way" plan voted by Brentwood Council some time ago.

SEISMOGRAPH RETURNED

The U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey seismograph, loaned to the University of Pittsburgh for making tests of the foundation of the new cathedral of learning, has been returned to Washington. There it will be packed for shipment to Sitka, Alaska, where it will be permanently placed. During the experiments conducted while the instrument was here numerous earthquakes were recorded.

Final results as to the test are not yet available but the practicability of the cathedral basement for seismograph location is practically assured. If this proves true a Wenner seismograph will be donated to the University by Dr. George Hubbard Clapp, chairman of the board of trustees.

FIGHT REVEALS STOLEN RINGS

C. W. Lampus, a roomer, who discovered the theft, became involved in an argument with Rucker and in a fight that ensued, C. W. Graberstine, of 91 Fountain steret, assisted in overpowering Rucker.

The rings, $3 in cash and another purse, were found by Patrolman Thomas English a few feet away from the scene of the scuffle. Rucker will get a hearing tomorrow.

Boy Agriculturist Wins Ribbon, Scholarship

Because he is the outstanding member of the Allegheny County Agricultural Extension's junior clubs, Donald Hoffmeister, of Forward Township, was presented Saturday with a ribbon and a $100 scholarship.

The scholarship is offered annually by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to the most active agricultural club member residing in any of the 17 counties of Pennsylvania traversed by the railroad.

Although Donald is only 14, he has proven himself an authority when it comes to cattle. He has been interested in breeding fine pigs for the last two years. He reached the acme of perfection in this field last year when he fed out a litter weighing 2,450 pounds. He placed fifth last year and third this year in the association's dairy club work. In October, last, he won first in the Washington County Fair judging contest.

Donald intends to put the $100 out at interest until he needs it to enter college.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

LU[illegible] TREND

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph.

PARIS, Dec. 16—Travel[illegible] ats have journeyed far in their quest for beauty. And so attractive have they become that they are frequently worn for a journey that turns out to be but a voyage of exploration in a favorite shop. Soft supple tweeds, rich furs and intricate detail added to impeccable cut, combine to make a garment that is strikingly different from the plain tweed coat that did duty for boat and train wear, years ago, and not so many years ago, either. Clothes as they are today represent the triumph of beauty, even when the garments are created for strictly utilitarian purposes.

And there can be no doubt that this striving for beauty is reflected in that psychology of us all, and to our distinct gain. For beauty, that is, beauty that is the outcome of harmony, grace and proportion creates poise and soft-mannered distinction.

* * * *

VELVET continues to be overwhelmingly popular both for day and evening wear. Those whose wardrobe is necessarily limited will find increasing satisfaction and delight in a plain dress of black velvet, relying for its success on perfect cut, and fluid line. One never becomes tired of owning such a dress, surely that is sufficient tribute to pay any dress.

* * * *

PAQUIN has used quantities of velvet for models shown this season, and this seems to be particularly addicted to black velvet with red fox, a most attractive combination. The suit shown here is of black velvet, the trimming is red fox, and the blouse of satin. The coat and skirt are both circular in line, a line that is accentuated by the deep border of the fur on the coat. The sleeves are slightly puffed just above the wrist.

* * * *

MAGGY ROUFF uses beige and brown tweed for the traveling coat here shown, and trims it with an enormous collar and cuffs of natural brown wolverine. Diagonal lines of the tweed used lengthwise on the coat gives a suggestion of height to the figure. These huge fur collars demand a close toque or turbar by way of a hat.

Buds Chosen As Cotillion Leaders

A WEEK from Wednesday is Christmas! And the music of the social spheres is becoming gayer and gayer. And will continue to be so until mid-January. Usually the dawn of New Year's day ends social life here as finally as the striking of the midnight hour did for Cinderella. But this year because of the many entertainments for our twoscore buds and more, the season will last several weeks longer than ever before.

But before I talk about any of the many parties to come, I want to chat a bit about the outstanding event of this week, the cotillion tomorrow evening in the Pittsburgh Club.

Five of the debutantes of this season have been asked to lead the cotillion with the members of the committee.

Frances Forsyth, daughter of the James M. Magees, will dance with James Verner Scaife, Jr.; Anne Douglas Stewart, daughter of Mrs. Douglas Stewart, with Moorhead B. Holland; Laura Evans, daughter of the Howard Salisbury Evanses, with Richard King Mellon; Peggy Milligan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan, with William Christopher Robinson, Jr., and Mary Franklin Robinson, daughter of the William Christopher Robinsons, with John T. Ricketson, III.

WEDDINGS and engagements add delightful surprises to the Christmas news. From Philadelphia and New York comes a most interesting announcement for Pittsburgh folks. Henry Adams Plumer, formerly of Pittsburgh, announces the engagement of his daughter, Catherine Irwin Plumer, who lived here not so many years ago, to William Winton Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Donold Murray, of Scranton and New York.

Catherine's mother was the former Edith Rankin. Catherine is the niece of Mrs. John Dexter McIlhenny and Mrs. Carol Augustus Ziegler, of Philadelphia. The marriage will take place in January, I've been told.

THIS brilliant season of ours has made imperative a number of changes in dates for parties. The latest change I know of is that the Benjamin Rush Bradford Townsends, of "Fairway," Sewickley Heights, have changed the date for the dance they'll give the school set in honor of Laura Liggett, daughter of the Sidney S. Liggetts, and Henry T. Irwin, Jr., son of Henry T. Irwin, of Edgeworth, from December 28 to December 30.

Speaking of the school set reminds me that the junior Harry Darlingtons will give a dance for the school set in their home January 3 in honor of their son, Harry Darlington III.

ON Saturday one of Pittsburgh's young men went to New York to be his brother's best man. William A. Gordon III was best man at the wedding that day of Charlotte Elizabeth Carnahan, daughter of the George Holmes Carnahans, of New York, and Lewis Henderson Gordon, son of the Gordon Gordons, of New York and East Williston, L. I. And the ceremony took place in the chapel o. St. Bartholomew's Church, with the Rev. Dr. Robert Norwood, the rector, as officiant. A reception in the Park Lane followed.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Cecilia Fassett, of New York. The ushers were John F. W. Whitbeck, Jr., Charles J. Prescott, Jr., Russell T. Smith, Edward K. Dunham, Jr., Robert H. Egerton Elliott, Jr., Lawrence H. Druggand, John Harwood, Jr., and Richard T. Flood, all of New York.

The bride, who attended the Ogontz Sschool, recently moved East from Mexico, where her family lived for many years. The bridegroom was graduated from the Phillips Andover School and from Harvard. After their wedding trip the young Gordons will make their home in Flushing, Long Island.

AND this afternoon an interesting tea is being given that is not in honor of a debutante as are most of our teas nowadays. Mrs. Edward Kirk Davis is the hostess, and she is entertaining in the University Club in honor of Helen West, daughter of the Charles Howard Wests, whose engagement to Alexander Logan Wilson, of New York, was announced in November.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the marriage of Miss Mabel Bradbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Bradbury, of Hill avenue, Wilkinsburg, to William R. Davis, son of Mrs. Laura V. Davis, of Franklin avenue, Wilkinsburg, which took place November 27 in the home of the bride's parents. The bride is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, which Mr. Davis also attended. Mr. and Mrs. Davis are now at home in Race street, Edgewood.

COURT ALLEGHENY, No. 664, Catholic Daughters of America, will hold its annual mother's party tomorrow evening in the Knights of Columbus Hall. Mrs. Mary Battle, Miss Anne Brennan, Mrs. Margaret English, Mrs. Clara Hergenroeder, Mrs. Margaret Justus and Miss Louise Rodgers are in charge.

MISS MARGARET KIRK announces the marriage of her sister, Miss Mary Jane Kirk, to Thomas R. Beasty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Beasty, which took place in St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church November 23. Mr. and Mrs. Beasty are now at home in Sheffield street, North Side.

Horton, Huntington, vice president, and F. S. Miller, Bluefield, treasurer. Trustees are Morris Barton, Huntington; J. W. Ayres, Bluefied, and George D. O'Brien, White Sulphur Springs.

Regent Square Children Christmas Party Guests

ABOUT 70 children attended the delightful Christmas party given Saturday afternoon by the Regent Square Woman's Club. It was held in the Wilkins School under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. G. Fixel. The program, consisting principally of reading and dancing by a group of children, also included a Christmas story beautifully told by Mrs. F. W. Wappat.

The children participating in the program were Jean Stingel, George and Peggy Blackhall, Alice May Skiff, Emma G. Wilkinson, Jean Cochran, Florence Johnston, June Jamison, Betty Jane Cochran and Mildred Langie. A jolly Santa paid the youngsters a visit and presented each one with a gift stocking from the decorated Christmas tree. Mrs. E. J. McCoy and the social committee took charge of the refreshment hour.

TABLEAUX representing scenes from Dickens' works and a presentation of Mrs. Jarley and her "stupendous collection of waxworks" will make an interesting program for the Christmas dinner meeting of the Dickens Fellowship to be held tonight in the Fort Pitt Hotel. The tableaux will be from the books which the Fellowship has been studying, while for the waxworks, Mrs. Sarah C. Pettit has written a new sketch which will be participated in by 18 members of the Fellowship. Mrs. Howard G. Stewart will add vocal numbers to the evening's entertainment.

AT its holiday meeting held in the Franklin Church, the Woman's Club of Ingomar learned how Christmas is celebrated in other lands. The club choral, in Christmas dress, directed by Mrs. R. K. Millard and accompanied by Mrs. Harold Pomeroy, opened the program and interspersed the literary numbers with carols. Mrs. L. J. Moeller, in Norwegian costume, gave memories and traditions of Scandinavia, two Christmas stories were told by Mrs. William Crawford, and Miss Ruth Minnick, of the International Institute, described Christmas customs of Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Russia and Spain. Gifts for the Toy Mission were brought by the women.

UNDER auspices of the Woman's Civic Club of Wilkinsburg, Mrs. Anna Marshall McCracken, of the fine arts department, Carnegie Institute, is presenting the Christmas story in pictures in the school auditorium this afternoon. The club choral is illustrating Mrs. McCracken's talk with carols.

Are YOU Getting YOUR MONEY'S WORTH In Entertainment ?

The American people pay more generously for entertainment than any nation on earth. Their generosity has enriched the motion picture industry.

Spoken dialog has come to replace the subtitle of the silent picture. Tagging along with the talkie comes Mechanical Music—an economy.

Real Music is being ordered out of many theatres in favor of this new comer, who never dared a theatrical appearance until he gained the protection of the Talking Picture's novelty and the magic word "Synchronized." Now synchronization with a picture does not give Mechanical Music the quality of Real Music.

* * *

Banishment of Living Music represents a loss for the theatre patron. Is this loss balanced by the substitution of Mechanical Music?

A very great many theatre-goers will answer:

"NO!"

Then why should the aforementioned American people, who pay so generously for entertainment, be required to take less for their money than they were wont to get?

3 YOUTHS SHOT, MINER HELD

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 16.—Ray Adams, 18, a coal miner, is in the Washington County jail after pleading guilty to charges of felonious assault and battery, following a shooting affray at Hendersonville, in one of his victims was badly wounded.

Adams left his boarding house shortly after dark, it was said, and got some home brew at a neighboring house. An altercation followed with Tony Dovshek, 21, which resulted in blows. Returning to his home, Adams secured two revolvers and started toward the scene of the fight. He passed a pool room, before which was a group of young men, including Dovshek.

Adams opened fire, emptying 11 shots into the group. The boys ran, with exception of Tony, who grappled with Adams. Three youths were slightly wounded.

Canonsburg officers detained Adams until arrival of County Detective W. B. Dinsmore and Corp. H. C. Johnson, of the state police. He is held in default of $2,000 bail.

REMARKABLE IS THIS CASE WON BY NEW KONJOLA

Amazed Over What This New Medicine Did After All Else Tried Had Failed.

A medicine may well be known by the friends it makes; not by mere promises and claims. Konjola is the best known medicine in America for just one reason and that is this—Konjola Makes Good.

MR. GEORGE PFOERTNER

Yet this amazing success of Konjola is not so astonishing when one remembers that Konjola is actually 32 medicines blended into one. All these ingredients—22 of them the juices of roots and herbs—go together to the source of the ills Konjola is designed to relieve, and there give battle to the cause. All around you are men and women who are enjoying today health they never expected to have again, and they will tell you that to Konjola belongs all the credit. Get all the facts from the Konjola Man. There is one in Pittsburgh, located at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street. Call on the Konjola Man and hear of numerous actual cases wherein Konjola was the first and only medicine to bring relief as in the case of Mr. George Pfoertner, 5119 Ladora Street, Pittsburgh, who just recently made the following statement:

"I certainly owe a lot to Konjola, and I welcome this opportunity to tell what it did for me, and I hope that others, who suffer as I did, will profit by my experience. For years I had been a victim of stomach trouble, which caused me to become very weak, rundown and nervous. I had no appetite and what little I did force myself to eat did not digest as it should. After every meal came misery and pain. My bowels were sluggish, and I always had aches or pains in one part of my body or another. I became very nervous and thought I was going to be forced to give up my work. To add to my distress I began to fear that I never would find the right medicine.

"But I did find the right medicine. What a medicine this new Konjola is! Within two weeks I noticed a wonderful change in my condition. In fact, two bottles of Konjola did more for me than all the other medicines and treatments I tried put together. As I continued taking Konjola, day after day I noticed improvement and at the end of six weeks I was a well man. For the first time in several years I have a good appetite and can eat anything I like. My nerves have calmed and I sleep well at night. It is easy for me to understand why Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends. If the world knew about Konjola what I do it would number its friends by the billion."

That's the kind of medicine Konjola is . . . one that keeps the faith; that brings results, that makes good.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. Konjola is sold also by all Dow Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

Guy Is Frantic When He Learns That Pat Is Missing

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Mary Patricia Dawn, young and beautiful, is in love with Guy Elliott, handsome aviator. Guy is perfecting a plane which old William Bryce is to manufacture. Pat meets Bryce's widowed daughter-in-law and wonders if Guy is intrigued by Barbara's beauty. Bryce sends Tom Burns, a workman, to jail for attempted robbery. Pat has gay times with Lee Templeton, young college student. Pat's father is stricken with pneumonia and dies. The family considers giving up the big house because of the heavy expenses. Guy, hoping to help the Dawns, tries to urge Bryce to manufacture his plane. He learns the old man has lost a fortune. Mrs. Dawn gives her life savings to Bryce to invest. Guy, fearing Bryce may use the money to cover his own losses, tries to recover it. Bryce reluctantly surrenders the bonds, swearing vengeance on Guy. He discontinues financing the airplane factory, but holds Guy to his contract which prevents another concern from selling Guy's plane. Billie Bryce is kidnaped. The same day a stranger makes off with Guy's plane with Pat in it. Guy disappears, the third person to vanish. Detectives find a few of Billie's hairs in Guy's abandoned automobile. Bryce receives a ransom note saying Billie will die unless $20,000 is paid. Bryce follows instructions given in the note and places the money at a designated spot. The money vanishes in spite of the fact that detectives have been watching the place. The kidnaper, however, fails to return Billie. Detectives discover that a dog like Guy's carried the ransom money away. The dog leads a detective to Guy, who says he has been lost in the canyon since he was forcibly put there by unidentified men. He is placed under arrest, charged with the kidnaping.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

GUY told the detectives that after he had been set free he had no idea where he was. He got up and tried to walk. He was appallingly weak and very hungry. He could walk but a short distance when he was forced to rest.

He hoped to find the road. Night came on. He tried to fight off sleep, but it conquered.

Late on the morning of his discovery he awakened. He spent the day in futile efforts to find a road. He was hampered by a terrible dizziness—hunger and weakness. But above all by the insistent desire to sleep.

In the middle of the afternoon, like a miracle, like a thing of beauty so incredible that he fancied he dreamed, the dog had come upon him.

He told the dog to fetch someone. The dog returned alone. Again he sent him forth.

Then Tim Chase came. And he was almost weeping with relief—was ready to fling himself on the man in sheer joy when the order to throw up his hands was given.

The rest they knew.

They listened to this. They laughed at it. How finely in his two days in the hills he had worked out the fantastic details. Who was the woman—another phantom!

The next day—Monday—the Mrs. Taylor who had seen the kidnaper of Billy Bryce came to the jail. She picked Guy out from a dozen men.

He knew now that Pat was missing. That Monday, as soon as he was allowed to see him, Harold Hemming, an attorney and Guy's friend, gave him the details.

Guy went up, took the steel bars of the visitor's cell and made as though he would twist them to dough. He came back to Hemming. With face shockingly white, and goaded, almost insane eyes, he asked: "No trace of her? All airports watched?"

Hemming nodded.

Then Guy said: "Get me out of here! Anyway—some way. Hal—get me out."

He was wild now. He prowled back and forth in his narrow cage. And he saw nothing out images of Pat. He saw her face, glowing in the moonlight—pure, radiant, pitifully young against the waxy, white gardenias. He flung from this image to the stark fact of her disappearance. Someone had climbed into his plane and carried her off. And the whole earth conspired to keep her from him.

He wondered if he were utterly mad. And all these grotesque happenings were indeed the work of nightmare.

He would get out of it, find himself standing before a mirror, pulling a necktie snappily to place. Find himself climbing into his car, giving a merry wink perhaps to some pretty girl whose eyes followed him, flushing. He would find hard, brown hands, little and ever so dear, clasped about his neck, rapt murmurs thrilling and singing in his ears.

How was it possible this Shining Youth of yesterday had become the desperate fellow of today? Could anyone believe the monstrous, incredible thing?

He pleaded with his friends who came stalwartly to his defense; pleaded with newspaper reporters, with detectives, even with his jailers to let him out—let him find her.

Wasn't it proof of his innocense that Pat, too, was gone? What man, unless he were completely depraved, would let the girl he loved be taken away alone by another, by his partner in a fiendish crime? Even a thug would stop at that.

He became almost incensate when they refused to believe him. These police, by holding him, were bringing death, perhaps worse, to Pat. They were keeping him behind these bars, and somewhere, in the custody of an unknown scoundrel, Pat was held. She might be battling this fellow—might be tortured by him—

He [illegible] weigh his ca[illegible] to see Bryce.

Only when Laura Dawn came and stood beside this terrible visitor's cage in the Hall of Justice, only then was he crushed and quiet. He couldn't bear to look in Laura's eyes.

Nor could she endure the look of his. They tortured each other—these two.

Laura felt the devastation of an awful death—a comfortless bereavement in her soul. Her Pat would not [illegible] this girl whom she loved and who for 20 years had been the pride of their inmost hearts—her heart and Richard's—was gone.

Had gone from her that happy Monday morning — it seemed so happy now in comparison with the mortal desolation of other days—these days.

And Pat was not returning. Worse than she had dared to fear had happened.

She asked fearfully: "Why did they take Pat? Are the two kidnapings connected?"

Still more desperatedly, Guy answered: "I figure they didn't count on taking Pat. Why would they? But she was waiting for me. It was cold that day. She climbed into the cabin to wait. She often did this. In the dark the fellow didn't see her. He'd phoned to have the plane tuned up, because he wanted to make a lightning get-away. He carried Pat off without knowing it and without her ever guessing that any but I had climbed into the plane. Until too late."

"What has he done with her? Guy—might he have flung her from the plane—over the mountains somewhere? Figuring she might interfere with the plan?"

"No—! No one would do that!"

"The ransom is paid. Why are they not returned?"

This was the question on everyone's lips. It strengthened the case against Guy. He had buried the ransom in the hills; his confederate in fury at his failure would not return Pat and Billy. And in fury, this confederate had sent the death message from Berkeley on Sunday. He might even have committed the murder—might have chloroformed Barbara's little boy.

Tim Chase took Guy's dog out to the flume. Again and again Jim retrieved boxes like the one the kidnaper had sent. They discovered where the box was brought. It was to a little thicket just above the clearing that led to the abandoned dirt road. In this spot they found the first substitute box.

With this news the hills were soon alive with searchers. Men, boys, even women came with spades and pitchforks. They plowed up the canyons for miles in search of the $20,000 Guy was supposed to have buried.

They found nothing. Then a theory took hold that Guy's confederate had made away with the ransom, that he had double-crossed Guy, overcome him and hurled him back on the scene to shoulder the guilt, and block search for another.

If Guy spoke, his own fate would be sealed. So the confederate was secure. This fellow cared for nothing but the money. He would dispose of his captives in the quickest way—had perhaps murdered them as the last letter intimated.

This special delivery letter, at first dismissed as the work of a crank, was found to have been written on the same typewriter as the three other ransom notes. Certain peculiarities made the identification positive.

The letter "B" had the lower half nicked off; the "T" was but partly crossed and the "E" "M" and "R" were out of line. The same person had sent the four messages.

When this was learned when [illegible] Bryce went to Guy. She knew the words of that letter by heart—"such a nice little chap. He died without pain and without knowing it. This morning when he slept, I went in and chloroformed him." How often she had kissed the little fellow as he lay with his hands tossed over his head—and his lips so red and soft.

But try as she would she could not recall the look of his face. She saw him only and always now with a handkerchief thrown over his features—a handkerchief blotting out his face. Bill was dead.

White as a wraith, her beautiful eyes staring open like two dark graves, she confronted him. She stood in the corner of the barred space and for moments could not speak. Finally her voice came. It had a stark note; a derolate, mourning quiet more terrible than any sob.

She said: "Where is this OTHER? Dear God, be merciful! Tell me! What have they done with him?"

He regarded her stunned. Then he flung across the little room. He asked, almost sobbing: "Do you think I know where he is? You can't think I have anything to do with this?"

Her face became gray with its anguish and terror. As she stared up at him, he lost his familiar lineament. He became unreal to her. She read into his eyes cruelty, selfishness and all the violence rampant in this ruthless age. She was wild and desperate and saw evil in all.

He felt her judgment. He went up and shook the bars between them. "Barbara—remember Barbara, can you think I knew the slightest thing—"

"God," she cried, springing back. "You won't tell me! You mean to keep me forever in this agony. Oh, my God! What do you want. Name anything!" She almost pitched against him. "My life—all I have—"

He sat crushed after this. The fight in him downed.

Even Dickie Dawn couldn't get a word of hope. Dickie came every day. No one knew how the youngster's trust heartened the young man. How he liked the strong, [illegible] handclasp [illegible]

"Aw, say, Guy, don't you give up," Dickie begged. "You know Pat's pretty plucky. She'd give a fellow an awful battle. I bet she's not beaten. Say, I never saw Pat afraid of anything."

Guy couldn't answer with other hopes today. Then Dickie paid a visit to the detective's room. He asked for Chase.

"Are you Mr. Tim-OTHY Chase?" he asked, with a violent emphasis on the Christian name. I supose you call yourself Irish?"

"I suppose the same of you," answered Timothy with a grin.

"Not your kind! Say, if you had one drop of decent Irish blood you'd know a man when you see him. You're from the bogs, you are!"

"And who asked you my pedigree?"

"Pedigree! Ha! You know much about langwidge as you do about catching kidnapers. YOUR name's Chase—aw, go chase yourself! You fellows couldn't catch yer own shadow, and it's tied right on to you!"

Guy had other champions. But as Tuesday passed and with it the hope that the girl and the child would ever return safely, even these champions grew silent.

"Get me out of here," Guy implored Harold Hemming. Can't I get some kind of a stay while I look for her?"

"Where will you look?"

"I'll find her!"

"You can't get out!"

He became inatriculate with despair. He worked out wild schemes for escape.

Into this blackness came a sudden, unexpected light. Tuesday night he had a visitor. It overwhelmed him.

Lee Templeton stood before him. Guy, with the memory of Barbara's visit burned on his heart, stood and with dubious, defiant eyes regarded the blond boy.

"Guy," he said, as though talking to a brother, though the two had barely met, "Guy, this is awful for you. I just got in from Mexico—just learned it all—Guy—where can I find her—tell me what to do—"

Guy swayed. He stood with his head down. "You don't believe me in it?"

"Oh, Lord God! You—!"

This faith, this beautiful feeling of the boy who was a stranger to him did what all the third degrees failed to do. It broke him utterly.

Do Your Christmas Shopping Wisely, Is Fay King's Admonition

By FAY KING

IN DOING your Christmas shopping be sure to bear in mind the tastes of those who will receive the gifts, rather than your own.

We all love to shop. And especially for the things we ourselves are most interested in.

But Christmas shopping is a time when we must put aside our own tastes and think of what others would prefer.

We might like earrings and books. But the one on our list would much rather have an electric toaster or a new lamp shade.

Much of the confusion of after Christmas exchanging might be happily avoided if purchasers would give more thought to this angle.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Edith Is Stumped When Her Scheme Fails

"WITH my pulses bounding, I obeyed Lillian's dictum, and followed Purnell into the living room, slipping on my big apron over my evening gown as I went.

"I have them all laid out as you told me," Purnell said as I stood at the door of the small room. "but you'd better not come in here. You might get against the thorns with your dress. I can bring them out to you and hold them for you while you arrange them. I also took the liberty of putting the candles into the candelabra."

He rolled the word unctuously and again I took a firm grip upon my laugh muscles. But it was not at Purnell that I next smothered a laugh. It was at the look of astonished chagrin which leaped into Edith Fairfax's eyes as she caught sight of me, and which she was not quick enough to hide, although the next instant she had rushed forward with a very pretty show of solicitude.

"Oh! my dear! how perfectly dreadful!" she exclaimed. "Lillian has just been telling me, I am so furious at those people. Just wait till I see them. They promised me solemnly that they would be here at 2 o'clock, and then after you telephoned they said they were on the way. What time did they get here."

"Purnell is the only one who can answer that," Lillian interposed quickly. "He took them in. Did the delivery boy give an excuse for being late?"

She was looking fixedly at the bellboy as she spoke, and I remembered that she had spoken to him for a second or two without my hearing what she said. Patently she had told him to retail his whole conversation with the delivery boy, and Purnell promptly obeyed, with a subtle little air of relish, indeed, as if he understood that his answer would afford me a little triumph.

"Yas'm" he said with a little bow. "I asked him what he meant by bringing flowers for a dinner at this time of night, they didn't come in until almost six, and he got awful provoked. He said his orders were to deliver them no earlier than six, because they would fade. He said he was afraid he was too early instead of too late. He said I could see the order on the books down at the store.

"I suppose," Purnell cleared his throat depreciatively as if in apology for venturing an explanation, "that they got mixed up with some other order."

"That is ridiculous," Edith snapped, her cheeks flushed, her eyes glittering. "The boy is lying, that is all. I distinctly told the man two o'clock, and he promised them for that hour."

"That's the explanation, no doubt," Lillian said. "Somebody's lying."

She paused but for the briefest instant before hurrying on, but—I caught my breath and Edith's flush deepened into an ugly brick red.

"But what can anybody do about it now?" Lillian went on in matter-of-fact tones. "It's all over, and no harm done, thanks to Purnell here."—the little darkey smiled widely "and Madge's well-known executive ability. She planned everything so that she would have plenty of time to dress, and arrange the flowers afterward. By the way, take a look at your hostess before we leave her to herself. Isn't she nifty?"

She untied the string of my apron, and whipped it off before I could protest. And, indeed, I was not reluctant to have Edith Fairfax see that her little scheme had failed.

Edith's eyes narrowed. But she was forced to inanity.

"She's a dream, indeed," she said carelessly, added plaintively—

"Will this gown do, Madge? I have nothing else. It won't clash, will it?"

"Indeed, no," I returned as I surveyed the extremely modish gown of beige lace to which she was pathetically referring. "The roses will go beautifully with that shade. I have corsages of the roses for every woman, but I don't want to take them out of their boxes until the last minute."

"Come on back, Ede," Lillian urged, slipping her hand through the other's arm. "She's off on an orgy of arranging flowers, and I want her to get through with it and have time to get sober before the dinner hour."

"But—I ought to help—" Edith protested. "It's my fault."

"Nonsense." I could afford to be generous. "How could you possibly have helped it? I won't be long now, with Purnell's help—" the little darky beamed again, "and then we'll don our corsages."

But, I found later that I had "spoken out of turn." With Purnell's aid the living room was aglow with roses in low bowls and taller vases upon mantel and side tables and the dinner table itself held an arrangement of the exquisite cream yellow buds and feathery green which my critical faculty, overriding my modesty, pronounced nearly perfect. At last, I was satisfied to leave the room to the man from the dining room who was giving the dinner his personal supervision, and having distributed corsages to Lillian and Edith and fastened my own, I knocked upon the door where Mary and Princess Olina were dressing.

"But, Mrs. Graham, I cannot possibly wear those with this dress!" the young princess exclaimed.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Don't Display Gifts

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it correct for the wedding presents to be sent and displayed at the bride's home on the day of the wedding, or sent and displayed at the groom's home on the day after the wedding?

CONSTANT READER.

NOWADAYS the very best taste and the very best form suggest that wedding presents are not displayed except to one's closest friends. That is, usually the bride invites her closest girl friends to have tea with her a few days before the wedding, and at that time shows them her presents. But to have a "wholesale" display of the wedding presents does seem a bit overdone. However, if the wedding presents are to be displayed, the cards of the givers should be removed. It would be extremely bad form to send the wedding presents to the groom's home and display them there. The groom's friends will see them soon in the new home.

Wedding Announcement

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please give the correct form for me to announce my wedding, as I am an orphan. I have an older sister, but would much rather have the announcements made out in my name, if proper.

A READER.

IT is much better form for you to have your older sister, especially if she is married, sponsor the announcement of your marriage, but since you prefer to make this announcement yourself, this is the form that you would use:

Mr. John Husbandman
and Miss Alice Bride have the honor of announcing their marriage on Tuesday, the fifth of May Nineteen hundred twenty-eight
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Or you may have an aunt and uncle or an aunt or an uncle make this announcement.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Fear of Insomnia Is Usually Cause of It

DID you ever try sleeping out-of-doors, under the stars, with the singing pines above you and the mountain air to lull you to sleep?

DR. COPELAND

What an experience this is after a strenuous day in the open! If you have had this privilege, you know the deep and tranquil sleep that restores body and mind.

A physician will tell you that you cannot sleep well unless you are sufficiently tired. Most of us know from experience that this is true.

A laborer is likely to say he sleeps so soundly that he never dreams. It would seem that the type of work or the activity which we indulge in has much to do with the quality of sleep we enjoy. It has much to do, too, with the sleep we may fail to enjoy.

Bodily activity and mental activity both produce certain poisons which circulate through the body. These cause chemical changes in the system. Perhaps one reason we have continued sleep is because it is only in sleep that these poisons are eliminated faster than they are produced.

The brain suffers more from such poisons than do the muscles. If we use the brain for a long-continued time without sleep, no opportunity is afforded for getting rid of the accumulated poisons. Then there may be a tendency not to sleep.

Doubtless you have noticed that if you have gone to bed with your mind active, and without having had the necessary physical exercise, you have remained sleepless. You should exercise the body by a long, vigorous walk before bedtime, if you have a habit of not sleeping. Then stop thinking about whether you are to sleep or not. People think too much about this insomnia business. Suggestion has much to do with sleeplessness. If you are fearful that you will not sleep, the chances are that sleepless you will be.

Dismiss your worries, business or otherwise, at the end of the day. Happy is the man who learns to do this. Happy is the woman who refuses to worry and holds to an optimistic outlook on life in general.

Persons of sedentary habits, and those who use up their mental energy, should have physical exercise. Have a hobby. Play golf or tennis in moderation. Walking is one of the best of exercises. Any one of these will keep you fit. You should make it possible to be out-of-doors from one to two hours daily, and if you cannot be out in the daytime, take an evening walk, and thereby tone up your nervous system.

Sleep is little understood by the medical profession. People differ greatly as to the amount of sleep they need. Some people must have ten hours and others seem to thrive on five! Just why is a mystery.

The quality of sleep is the important factor. A person of the nervous type usually requires more sleep than one with a calm, even temperament. A calm mind and normal health are the requisites for the healthful sleep that speedily refreshes. If you have good health you will sleep deeply.

PLAID'S WORST BESTING IN 16 YEARS

WHILE Carnegie Tech's defeat at the hands of Southern California in Los Angeles on Saturday was not unexpected, even among Tartan supporters, in view of the fact that the Skibos had not had a standard season and were up against a heavy handicap in playing in the California climate without strong replacements, the surprisingly wide margin by which the Schenley Park gridders were vanquished must be taken as meaning that the Trojans are far more powerful than they have been rated in this part of the country.

Marshall Duffield.

That the weakening effects of the Los Angeles temperature upon players not accustomed to it played a part in the outcome is evident. As long as they were fresh and strong, the Scots more than held their own. They were leading at the close of the first quarter and were on even terms with their foemen at the finish of the first half. Indeed, they outplayed the coast stars during that part of the game to such an extent that the edge in first downs was still in their favor, 18 to 14, at the end of the afternoon's play.

BUT a sustained attack or defense was beyond the powers of the Pittsburghers—in the strange climate. They practically shot their bolt in the first half, and when the heat further sapped their strength and endurance in the third quarter they were able to do little more than go through the mere motions of putting up a fight. They still had the heart, but their power was gone.

To make matters worse for the Skibos, they ran up against the Trojans just when the sensational Russell Saunders, all-coast quarterback, was destined to have the greatest day of his brilliant career, in which he has only one more college game to play. This star, who played left halfback in 1927 and fullback last year, staged one of the greatest performances seen anywhere this season, and his individual work alone had much to do with the routing of the Tartans.

IN HIS first Conference game against California this fall, the same Saunders gained 231 yards, more than two and one-half as much ground as the entire opposing team made, averaging 16½ yards in 13 trips with the ball.

Considering the conditions, he was even greater in a general football sense last Saturday, and when he was withdrawn his damaging work against Carnegie was kept up by another brilliant performer in the person of Marshall Duffield.

Murray Armentrout.

DUFFIELD'S playing was just one instance showing the advantage that Southern California had over the Plaid in the all-important department of replacements. The Skibos were forced to take out almost their entire string of starting regulars before the finish and they didn't have the secondary stuff to continue the fight successfully. As far as they could go the Skibos gave a good account of themselves and were not disgraced in spite of the overwhelming score. Murray Armentrout, for one, gave an exhibition that won for him an ovation from the coast fans, and, barring a few fumbles, all of his team mates played decidedly creditable football until the heat got them.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S score of 45 points is the largest made against Carnegie Tech in 16 years, or since September 27, 1913, when Penn State swamped the Tartans, 49 to 0. That was a zero season in which the Scots, not yet established in the front ranks of collegiate football, won only two games. They beat Waynesburg and Grove City, but were tied by Westminster and lost to Penn State, Geneva, Allegheny College and Haverford.

From 1913 until last Saturday, the greatest number of points scored against Carnegie in a game was credited to Yale, which defeated the Skibos 44 to 0 at New Haven on October 2, 1920, the opening game of the season for both teams. The next highest was made by Notre Dame in defeating the Steffenites 40 to 19 on November 29, 1924, at Forbes Field. Pitt's highest score against the Plaid was made this year, 34 to 13.

THOUGH it is clear that the power and class displayed by Southern California on Saturday indicate that Pitt will have a tough contract on its hands in Pasadena on New Year's Day, it does not necessarily follow that the Panthers are riding to a certain defeat. There is no question that Pitt is stronger than Carnegie in all departments this year, has a greater set of ball carriers and a better line that may be able to repulse the drives that pierced the Tartan wall.

Joe Walcott.

Besides, where Carnegie lacked strong replacements, the Panthers have a second team that is a formidable outfit in itself. Even if Coach Sutherland does not take a leaf from Knute Rockne's book and start some second stringers as shock troops, he will be able to juggle his players in a manner to promise a better conservation of strength than was possible for Steffen.

MOST boxing followers have been under the impression that Joe Walcott's toughest fights were the two with Kid Lavigne. For the first, staged at Maspeth, L. I., on December 2, 1895, Walcott, a welterweight, agreed to make the lightweight limit, then 133 pounds, and contracted to stop Lavigne in 15 rounds. Joe failed, though he had one of Lavigne's ears hanging by a shred. In the second, at catchweights, which took place in San Francisco on October 29, 1897, Lavigne won in 12 rounds. Walcott himself, however, declares that Tommy West gave him his hardest ring battles.

THE old Barbadoes Demon, whom Warren Brown now describes as a peaceful Negro gentleman of 57, with a huge mustache curling down over his lips, has just been given a new job at Madison Square Garden in New York. Francis Albertanti, one of the Garden officials, asked him who had given him his hardest fight.

"Mysterious Billy Smith," said Walcott at first. "No, it wasn't Smith either. It was Tommy West." "What?" came back the surprised Albertanti. "How about Lavigne?" "No," Joe insisted, with a shake of his head, "it was West.

"I HANDLED Tommy easily enough when I fought him the first time. Then I took him on a tour with me and taught him all I knew. I think it was the third time we fought that he gave me such a hard battle. He won the decision in 20 rounds. In the fifth fight he won again in 11 rounds. Another time we fought 20 rounds and it was called a draw. It was a lot tougher for me in these bouts than against Smith or Lavigne. You know I had to come down to 133 pounds for Lavigne. That didn't help any.

"The heaviest man I ever fought was Fred Russell, of Chicago.

WHITE SCORES ONLY GOAL IN 3-1 DEFEAT

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Chicago's Blackhawks, battling through for three goals in the second period last night, celebrated their removal to the Chicago Stadium with a 3-to-1 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates, in a National League hockey game.

A record crowd of nearly 14,500 paying customers saw the Hawks sweep the Pirates before them in the second session of the contest. Vic Riply scored two goals in less than one minute on passes from Wentworth and Arbour, and Ingram counted the last one on a pass from Wentworth.

Pittsburgh's goal was scored early in the final period, White taking a pass from Manners. The contest was extremely rough, 20 penalties being called.

Arthur (The Great Shires), the ball player-boxer, was discovered in the crowd, and came on to the ice to drop the puck for the last period. The lineup:

COUGARS TOP LEAFS

DETROIT, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Detroit's Cougars showed a reversal of form here last night in trouncing the Toronto Maple Leafs, 5 to 3, in a rough and hard-played National League hockey game before 9,000 fans.

The Cougars made their offense work to perfection. The Leafs were the victims of three goals, more or less of a freak nature, that trickled past Goalie Benny Grant, substituting for Lorne Chabot, in the Toronto nets.

Bill Beveridge, Detroit goalie, during the final minutes of play, turned back a determined drive by the Leafs, who sent four men down the ice in an attempt to overhaul the Detroit two-goal lead. The lineups:

| Detroit—5. | | Toronto—3. |
|---|---|---|
| Reverfidge | G. | Grant |
| Noble | R.D. | Day |
| Hicks | L.D. | Horner |
| Goodfellow | C. | Primeau |

BRUINS 8-4 VICTORS

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Going from a slow start into a wild burst of scoring, the Boston Bruins, champions of the National Hockey League, defeated the humble New York Americans here last night, 8 to 4. It was the second defeat for the Americans in as many nights.

Boston led, 1 to 0, at the end of the first period, and increased this margin to 3 to 1 in the second. Boston scored four times in the final period before the Americans could count again.

Little Cooney Weiland and Big George Owen were the leaders of the Boston attack, each getting a goal and two assists. Burch scored half of the New York counters and aided in one more. The lineup:

| N. Y. Americans | | Boston. |
|---|---|---|
| Worters | G. | Thompson |
| Simpson | R.D. | Shore |
| Conacher | L.D. | Hitchman |

SHIRES CRAZE MAY LEAD TO THIS

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Art Shires, the big IT man of baseball, started something when he knuckled Lena Blackburne out of his job as manager of the Chicago White Sox and set himself up as the blushing violet of the prize ring, causing Jack Sharkey to admit that at last somebody has come along who has him licked in this role.

Art Shires

Hack Wilson and Lefty O'Doul, two big shots in the National League, are in line for battles with the Great One and professional football players, wrestlers and others are beginning to demand information on how long this has been going on. Even Jack Dempsey the man who made million-dollar gates possible in boxing, is grumbling that he was born 10 years too soon.

Just imagine what the situation will be if this keeps on. We'll have Dempsey, the Manassa Mauler, holding down first base for the White Sox next spring because Art is too busy carrying on in the former champion's shoes.

TUNNEY BATTING FOR RUTH

Gene Tunney will have to answer the call to arms and fill in for Babe Ruth, who will be grabbing off some of the easy dough bouncing home runs off Bums' chins instead of knocking them over the fence.

Chuck Klein will be holding out for a third of the gate and carfare for three to fight in Keokuk and let the Phillies worry along with just another sandlotter.

WEAK RESERVE CAUSES TECH'S DOWNFALL

By JESS CARVER,
Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16.—With the tingle and thrill of Carnegie Tech's valiant invasion of Southern California football territory Saturday not halfway subsided, the West Coast looks forward to a second and third sortie of eastern gridiron forces, the appearance of the Army against Stanford at Palo Alto, and of Pittsburgh against U. S. C. in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

Carnegie Tech's colorful Tartans remain the principal topic of conversation here today. Not a one of the 51,000 fans who watched the Skibos strive so manfully against the powerful Trojans and the strength-sapping air and heat of this country will ever forget the sensational first-half play of Tech in the Coliseum Saturday. With a bit more reserve strength, Tech would have beaten Southern California's respective ears in Saturday, for so badly were the Trojans outplayed in the first half, when the easterners were fresh, that those who saw the game, and know something of the power of the Pitt Panthers and the great reserve strength of that team, will install Jock Sutherland's team a favorite here New Year's Day.

SAUNDERS U. S. C. ACE

There is no denying, of course, that Southern California has a good football team. It is not a smart outfit, especially on the defense against the forward pass or any sort of open-running attack. The Pitt reverses, with the tremendous power ahead of the ball, will ruin Southern California. Make no mistake on that score.

Russ Saunders is the ace of the Trojan team, and one of the best ball-carriers in the country. He reminds one of Chris Cagle and Tom Parkinson. Not only can he slither off the tackles, but he busts a line as it should be busted. Saturday he looked to these bleary eyes as the best offensive back of the year, superior to Cagle, Follett, Elder, Savoldi, Uansa, Armentrout, Sloan, and even Parkinson.

Despite the one-sidedness of the score, the Tartans grabbed themselves gobs of glory in their defeat. In the first place, they outfirst-downed the Trojans, no mean feat. The first and tens in the first half favored Tech by 11 to 4, and at the end of the game Tech had 18 and U. S. C. 14.

Tech's half dozen fumbles were costly, three of them paving the way for ultimate and sudden touchdowns. Set aside these costly miscues, and the score would certainly not have been greater than 26-13. By the same token, had Pete Flanagan have held the two passes he dropped, and Tech would have had three and possibly—yea, certainly—four touchdowns.

VERY MAKES HIT

In checking back over my figures of the game, I find that Saunders carried the ball 24 times for a total of 163 yards, a total of 5.6 yards each time he tucked the pigskin under his brawny arm. Eyth toted the apple 13 times for Tech, gaining 67 yards and Armentrout took it 11 times, for a distance of 66 yards.

The Tartans were not the only ones that made a hit here Saturday. Seldom have I heard so many nice things said about a referee as were voiced in favor of Dex Very. Dex worked a pip of a game, called 'em accurately and quickly, and kept the game moving at an interesting clip.

Just to show you how well he was working, when he penalized U. S. C. in the first half for Saunders' intentional grounding of a pass, not a boo or hiss came

DUKES ELECT NEW GRID LEADER TOMORROW

GROVERS FACE PANTHER FIVE SATURDAY

With the arrival early tomorrow morning of Coach Robert (Bob) Zuppke, famous University of Illinois football coach, who is widely known as a speaker no less than as a successful gridiron mentor, and especially as the producer of Red Grange, the Galloping Ghost, of a few years back, everything is in readiness for the annual football banquet of the Duquesne Alumni Association, to be held in the William Penn Hotel tomorrow night.

The Duquesne football squad, which completed a 10-game season undefeated, will be the guests of the Alumni Association, along with Head Coach Elmer Layden, Joe Bach, line coach, and officials of the university. Letters will be awarded eligible men by Coach Layden, the Law Alumni will present 30 gold footballs to the lettermen and the annual election for the football captaincy will be held. Senator Frank J. Harris will be toastmaster.

BENEDICT IMPROVES

Following the injury to Capt. George (Ganzy) Benedict, of the Duke cage squad last Friday afternoon in an automobile crash, it appears the Dukes are going to have a real "buddy" act. Sami Pratt, receiver of the now-famous Benedict-to-Pratt passing combination of the Dukes' undefeated season just closed, has signified his intention of appearing at court practice this afternoon. He hopes to pinch-hit for Ganzy now that his buddy is out of the running for some weeks.

Benedict is almost certain to be confined to his hospital room for several weeks, and is likely to be out of action for the entire basketball season. He is reported improved, however. Although he will not be able to attend tomorrow night's fete, he is first in line to succeed Buff Donnelli as 1930 grid captain.

Pitt and the Dukes have fired the first salvos of major basketball conflict against Middle-Western quintets on invasions that brought reversals to the Dukes. Waynesburg has waged successfully two scheduled battles. Westminster and Grove City have skirmished with pre-schedule foes.

This week Pitt and Grove City lock in the engagement of outstanding district interest; Thiel opens its schedule with an Eastern swing against Canisius, University of Buffalo, and St. Bonaventure; St. Vincent's meets Indiana, and Geneva enters the list of skirmishers. By the first of the year, Washington and Jefferson, Carnegie Tech, Allegheny and the others will have tested their strength and worked out the best combinations for the 1930 hostilities.

Pitt's bewildering speed swept over Muskingum 57-30, Indiana 35-31, and Northwestern 38-30. Tonight it will be loosed on Iowa. Capt. Chippah Cholly Hyatt has caged 23 field goals in three games.

DUKES LOSE PAIR

Inability to penetrate the enemy defense proved costly to Duquesne against Iowa, (26-35) and Loyola, of Chicago (13-29). Nor had the sting of defeat scarcely been appeased by a lopsided 32-14 triumph over Elmhurst, Ill., college ere the Dukes were dealt the most bitter blow of all when Ganzy Benedict was injured.

Westminster, last season's Tri-State Conference champion, with eight veterans back and led by Capt. O'Donovan, a great forward, humbled Kent, O., State Normal, 42-19 Saturday night, and won easily from Slippery Rock Teachers earlier last week, 39-18, with Delehunty, a guard of Indiana, Pa., in the limelight.

Waynesburg, a tri-state contender, revealed a scoring pair in Spadaro and Avery in downing the California Teachers, 43-30, Saturday night and a remarkable rallying power previously in losing 26-23 to Butler Y. M. C. A. after trailing 9-21 at the half. The Butler quintet, incidentally, should offer the district an early basis for comparisons of strength, meeting Geneva, another tri-state member, Wednesday. Westminster, December 28 and Washington and Jefferson, December 31.

Grove City, with Hildebrand, center, and Stavnitsky, a guard, scoring often, showed the strength in a one-sided 36-19 victory over a Mercer Independent five that its followers predict foreshadows a great season. It will be needed Saturday against Pitt.

Bethany, the West Virginia member of the Tri-State Conference, lambasted a Wheeling independent outfit, 56-35, in its inaugural skirmish with its four veterans showing up well, particularly Rush, a forward, who counted six field goals.

NEW GRID LAW IS SCORED BY BIFF JONES

By CAPT. BIFF JONES,
(Head Football Coach, U. S. Military Academy.)

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 16.—The football rules committee, meeting last winter, made several changes. Probably the most important was the change in the fumble rule.

This new rule reads as follows:

"If the side in possession of the ball fumbles it and the ball, after striking the ground is then recovered by an opponent, it is dead at the point of recovery and cannot be advanced."

The makers of the rules had in mind cutting down the penalty on a fumble. The value of possession of the ball is placed at 35 yards. This is the distance an average kicker can boot the ball down field. A team losing the ball through a fumble therefore penalizes itself 35 yards. Supporters of the change in the fumble rule, claim this is plenty, especially in view of the fact that it is an individual mistake and not a team mistake. Under the rules of last year, anyone recovering a fumble could run with it. This increased the penalty on the fumble. For instance, last year Georgetown won from a stronger opponent, N. Y. U., by running the length of the field with a N. Y. U. fumble.

OLD PENALTY JUST

Perhaps the old penalty on a team for the fumble was heavy. However, the point mentioned above in this connection, that the fumble was an individual mistake and not a team mistake, is not sufficient reason to lighten the penalty. Practically every penalty in the game is for some individual's mistake—offside, interference, holding, tripping, etc. In every case, the team is penalized. In some specific cases of unsportsmanlike conduct, the individual is disqualified in addition to the team penalty.

The claim was also advanced that eliminating the opponents running with the ball after recovering a fumble, would encourage teams to take more chances with plays requiring intricate handling of the ball. If this has worked out in practice it has not been apparent to the followers of the game to whom I have talked. For the past 11 years I have seen a football game every Saturday during the season. There were no more complicated plays this year than in previous years. To my mind, the time available for practice and the personnel at hand, and not a rule minimizing the danger of a fumble, governs how many plays will be carried, involving difficult handling of the ball.

HANDICAPS SMALL TEAMS

The rule has accomplished this however. It has cut down the small team's chance of turning in a large gain or even a score on a big team's fumble. The rule has therefore favored the big team. The little team lacking weight, speed and reserves of their big-time opponents can't do the things the big fellows can. But they are always ball hawks, on the constant lookout for a loose ball.

Furthermore, much thrill is lost in a big game. Many is the time before the rules were changed that one team has pulled up even or in front of the other by virtue of a keen-eyed, quick-thinking player picking up a fumble and dashing away. Cases in mind are Sam White, of Princeton, winning the Harvard and Yale games, some years ago; and Princeton's winning touchdown against Yale in 1919. This last case, far from being an individual feat, was smart team play. Scheerer made the touchdown, but the blocking by Princeton in giving him protection was as good as on any running play. Under the rules written at present, Yale's score against Army in 1928 could not have been made. Nor would Navy have beaten Colgate in 1926. Michigan would not have beaten Minnesota in 1926 as Oosterbaan's run would not have been allowed. A study of statistics would no doubt produce many instances of this kind. When the returns are all in for this year there will be many cases of teams losing the opportunity to win due to the changed rule.

I, for one, am for the rule as it was. The change has taken some of the chance and thrill out of the game—and for no good reason that I have found.

By JULIUS LEVIN.

Two time-honored rivals of the professional basketball court renew a feud of long standing tonight when the Morry-Fintex quintet, leader in the Allegheny County League, opposes the Franchinas in the only league contest on the program. The battle is carded for the Duquesne University floor, and if advance indications mean anything it should attract one of the largest turnouts of the season.

The Franchinas are eager to take a fall out of the Morry-Fintex passers, which leads many fans to believe that tonight's contest will be a battle royal. The Franchinas were one of the few teams to win against the Rauhs last year in the County League, and, as the Morry-Fintex machine is composed mainly of Rauh passers, the Franchinas are certain they can master them tonight.

FINTEX UNDEFEATED

The Morry-Fintex team, having scored four straight County League victories, the only team to boast an undefeated record, will be out to register their fifth successive decision.

The contest tonight presents several side features that should add considerable interest to the game. Nate Lippe, who starred for the Franchinas last season, now is coaching and playing a brilliant game at forward for the leaders, while Dom Demaria, a former Rauh star, is holding down a regular position for the Franchinas.

The main game will be featured by a preliminary contest between the Lou Gordon Juniors and a strong opponent. The prelim gets under way at 8 o'clock.

DRIBBLES

Kingsley House appears at the South Side Falcons and Edgewood at the Ray Schneiders in the two West Penn League games carded tonight.

The Forresters will entertain the Falcons No. 8 at Washington School tonight in the only Central Pittsburgh League contest. The Irene Kaufmann Settlement House has scored six successive league triumphs and is the favorite to win the championship in this circuit.

The Goldenson Vanities are open for a game at the South Side Market House next Wednesday night and would like to hear from a first-class team. The game will be played as a preliminary attraction to the Goldenson-Allentown Turner County League battle.

Sammy Smith, former Y. M. H. A. star, is playing a fine game for the I. K. S. in the Central Pittsburgh League.

Central League To Play Split Season

CANTON, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Central League baseball clubs will play a split season in 1930, it was decided at a meeting of the league's officials here yesterday. The season will consist of 140 games, opening on May 1, and closing September 1.

The magnates voted for a player limit of 15, including the manager, and decided upon a club salary limit of $3,750 a month. Last season's limit was $4,500. Fifteen rookies will be carried by each club during 1930.

A plan to expand the league to eight cities was discussed. Massillon made a bid for one of the extra berths.

Donald C. Jacobs, vice president of the Canton Terriers, was elected president and treasurer of the league, succeeding L. J. White, of Decatur, Ill., resigned. Harry Smith, Columbus, was chosen secretary.

BURNS, WEST VIEW IN TIE

Playing on a sticky field, the elevens of West View and Burns, of New Kensington, battled to a scoreless tie at West View Park yesterday afternoon.

It was one of the best games of the season, Burns playing a brilliant game against the Parkers, Sharkey especially looking good. The lineup:

| West View | | Burns |
|---|---|---|
| Krouse | L. E. | Herbert |
| Kelly | L. T. | Heiner |
| Kelly | L. G. | Graham |

SUHR SPLENDID BASE-RUNNER

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Gus Suhr's batting skill, especially his home-run activities, tend to overshadow the baserunning gifts of the new Pirate first-baseman, but to those who have watched him day in and day out, this important function has not been lost.

Suhr is regarded as one of the best baserunners in the Pacific Coast League by Jack McDonald, a former Pittsburgh newspaper writer, who for several years has been writing of baseball for the San Francisco Call—now the Call-Bulletin—the Hearst afternoon paper of the Golden Gate city.

McDonald writes an interesting letter on Suhr, as follows:

"Dear Chilly:

"A few yords about Suhr. He is the type of player that is consistent, steady, and I think he is due for a long stay up there. He takes excellent care of himself.

"Although he has been the property of the Seals for six years, it is a fact that he is only 24 years old now. He started out at 18.

Suhr played in 202 games this year, missing only one. That was in the second half of the race, when a play-off game for the first half was in progress. Inasmuch as the game did not count in the standings, a team of rookies was used, so Suhr did not get in.

"Gussie is one of the finest types of ball players a manager could have around. Nick Williams (Seal pilot) tells me he never heard him utter a word of complaint. In 1927 they stuck him at second base, a position he was not cut out for, and the fans gave him a terrible razzing, but he kept on going, and last year they put him at first. He improved steadily there, although, of course, he is not as good as Sheely in reaching for them.

"Suhr will drive in a lot of runs for the Pirates. I don't believe I saw him strike at half a dozen bad balls all season. That's a fact. He has a keen eye.

"Here is something. He batted in 177 runs and was third in that department of the game, big Buzz Arlett and Ike Boone leading him. Suhr led the league in runs scored, making 196 runs. He is generally conceded to be the best baserunner in the league. I don't mean that he will lead the league in stolen bases, but he consistently scored from first base on doubles out here. I have even seen him slide in ahead of the ball on a long single, from first base.

"The kid has a world of nerve. This year he had a leg that would have kept nine out of ten players on the bench for a couple of weeks. Yet he only missed the one game referred to, and, furthermore, nobody knew about his sore leg for about two or three weeks.

"He is NOT a finished first-baseman. He is fair. I don't believe he dropped a fly ball during the last two seasons and he went after everything. It is ground balls he looks awkward on. He gets down after them a little awkwardly, but I'll bet even with this weakness he will be regarded as a star with you fellows and will prove a big help to you.

"He has a temperament on the order of Pie Traynor, only, of course, he hasn't the poise of Pie."

Jaques, U. S. G. A Official, Asked To Quit Post

BOSTON, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Herbert Jaques, for five terms a member of the executive committee of the United States Golf Association, has been asked by the Massachusetts Golf Association to decline his sixth nomination, it was revealed after a meeting of the M. G. A. yesterday.

The Massachusetts association charged that Jaques has "failed accurately to represent the sentiments of golfers in this section of the country" and claimed that he has "disqualified himself for service by violating the rule of the parent association in accepting expense money in two Lesley Cup matches."

The second charge came as a surprise, as Jaques had been uncompromising in his opposition to efforts of the Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Metropolitan golf associations to obtain modification of the present U. S. G. A. rule prohibiting acceptance of expenses in interstate team matches.

LOCAL PLAYER STARS AT HUN

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 16.—William B. Trainer, Jr., of 1074 Devon road, Pittsburgh, was the varsity center on the sensational Hun Prep School eleven here, which recently completed another undefeated season upon the gridiron. This is the third year in the past four that Hun School's gridders have gone through a schedule without a setback. Trainer, with his fine playing, won mention on an all-regional eleven for Central New Jersey.

W. B. Trainer, Jr.

This year's Hun School eleven, playing some of the strongest gridiron teams in the East, rolled up a total of 150 points against 15 by its opponents. Only twice in the past four years has a Hun team been defeated and over that period it has amassed 495 tallies, against 86 garnered by opposing gridders.

BASKETBALL RULES QUIZ

PLAY NO. 19.

Jensen, of Creighton, is standing on the boundary line and intercepts a pass delivered by Marshall, of Washburn, before it crosses the line.

What is the correct ruling?

ANSWER.

The referee rules that the ball goes to Creighton as an out-of-bounds play, even though it was caught by Jensen before going out of bounds. Washburn is considered as the cause. However, if the ball is lying on the floor in bounds and Jensen should touch it while on the boundary line, it would go to Washburn as an out-of-bounds ball at the spot.

MANERO WINS AT AVALON

AVALON, Santa Catalina Island, Cal., Dec. 16.—(AP.)—A youth from the sidewalks of New York, Tony Manero, stroked his way to victory in the annual $7,500 Catalina Island open golf tournament yesterday, shooting the 54 holes 12 under par for a 186 card.

In his wake came Olin Dutra, a native son of California, one stroke behind, while Wild Bill Mehlhorn, a fellow pro from the Metropolitan district of the Atlantic seaboard, turned in a 188, for third money.

Larruping Leo Diegel turned in a 59 to place himself in a tie for fourth with Charles Guest, of Los Angeles, John Golden, of Paterson, N. J., and Frank Walsh, of Chicago. This quartet had cards of 189 for the tournament.

Horton Smith, the 21-year-old Missouri Ozarks pro, failed to do better than a 193 in the way of defending the title which he won from Walter Hagen a year ago by a stroke. Hagen, British open champion, was far down the list with a 195.

St. Vincent's Loses To Cumberland Five

CUMBERLAND, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—The Cumberland Knights of Columbus won their fifth straight basketball game of the season and ran their point total to 260 by downing St. Vincent's College, of Latrobe, Pa., here last night, 44 to 22.

Cumberland's five-man offensive easily solved St. Vincent's defense with Keegan, forward, counting seven field goals and five foul throws to lead in scoring. Long, Cumberland guard, caged five field goals. Lengyel, St. Vincent center, played a brilliant game for the losers. The lineup:

| Cumberland—44. | | St. Vincent—22. |

Penn State Enters New Court League

HAMILTON, N. Y., Dec. 16.—(AP.)—A triangular basketball association, with Penn State, Syracuse and Colgate as the principals was organized here yesterday at a meeting of the graduate managers of three institutions. The association, ratified by the athletic councils of the universities, will start in January, each team playing a two-game series with the others.

The team finishing with the best percentage of victories will be given possession of a silver trophy.

The association received an informal trial last year, the three teams finishing in a tie. The results generally so satisfactory that they led to organization of the triangular group. The schedule:

January 5, Colgate vs. Penn State at State College; February 8, Syracuse vs. Colgate at Hamilton; 20, Syracuse vs. Penn State at State College; 25, Penn State vs. Colgate at Hamilton; March 1, Penn State vs. Syracuse at Syracuse; 8, Colgate vs. Syracuse at Syracuse.

This and That

Christy Walsh, the big syndicate man, of New York, is in town today denying that he has signed up Art Shires as one of his trained seals.

Well, anyway, Tech had a nice trip and enjoyed the scenery and reports that Saunders was swell—at least what it saw of the Trojan star as he went past.

If the Tech-Southern California game had been played in a local boxing ring, Tech would have received the decision, judging from the Maloo-Saylor atrocity of last Friday night.

Watch Tech go next fall. The Plaid losing few stars, should have one of its best seasons. This was one of its poorest ones. And don't forget that Southern California ain't seen nothin' yet. The Pitt game is still ahead.

Football moguls are anxious to finish up their post-season battles in time to permit the coaches to start spring training for next year on schedule.

The cry used to be that the baseball season cut into football. Now it's the other way about and getting worse. The grid sport even has soccer cheated, and you can't tell when one bootleg season ends and the other begins.

BOXING SHOWS TONIGHT

Boxing shows are carded tonight at Junction Park, New Brighton, and in the Coliseum at Washington, Pa. California Joe Gans meets Johnny Rich, of Cleveland, protege of Bryan Downey, in the 10-round main bout at New Brighton, while Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, and Lew Feldman, of Cleveland, do the honors at Little Washington. Both windups are well supported by promising preliminaries.

Young Nationalista, just back home from an invasion of the United States, won the featherweight championship of the Orient by knocking out Kid Johnson in 48 seconds of the first round at Manila, Philippine Islands, Saturday night. Johnson was floored three times during the short time the bout lasted.

Midget Wolgast defeated Kid Singh in 10 rounds in New York, Saturday night. Anthony Santana, of Havana, subbing for Pete Sanstol, won over Mickey Doyle in a six-round bout in Brooklyn.

Promoter Francis Flynn, of the Moose Club, is working on his preliminary card for next Friday night, when he will present George Panas and Harry Williams, heavyweights, in the main bout.

Johnny Smackey and Chet Smallwood are booked for 10 rounds at East Liverpool, O., Thursday night.

PLAY SCORELESS TIE

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Dec. 16.—Cambria County's independent football championship is still in doubt, the Prospect A. C. and St. Michael Independents advancing no nearer the settling of their dispute-marred rivalry when yesterday's game between the two teams, witnessed by upward of 2,500 fans, ended in a scoreless tie. The lineup:

| Prospect—0. | | St. Michael—0. |
|---|---|---|
| Shaffer | L. E. | Zoball |
| Kroe | L. T. | Bittner |
| Wirick | L. G. | Palochik |

Long's Sport Comment

He weighed 236 pounds. I weighed 142. I knocked him out three times in six rounds, but George Siler, who was refereeing, allowed him to come back each time, telling me that Russell was a young fellows and I ought to let him get a reputation. Modern fighters don't class with the old boys. The latter were the best. They knew what they were doing."

Frankie Frederickson

THE injury jinx appears to have picked out the Pittsburgh team as its favorite victim in the hockey ranks. With Manager Frankie Frederickson and Herby Drury still out of commission, and Harold Darragh and Jerry Lowrey only recently restored to the lineup, Johnny McKinnon turned an ankle in practice Saturday afternoon and Roger Smith suffered two fractured ribs and a slash on the head in Saturday night's game, in which the Bucs finally managed to hang up their second victory of the season, 8 to 1, at the expense of the New York Americans.

A HARD-LUCK run of that length would be enough to keep any team from swinging into and maintaining a winning stride and it is not to be wondered at that the Pirates, defeated eight times in 10 starts, have not made a better record up to date.

The good spirit that they are showing in the face of the handicap promises well for the future when the locals begin to get their share of the favorable breaks. Thus far they have had more than their share of the bad ones.

DETROIT, Dec. 16.—Walkerville F. C. bid adieu to the national open soccer championship in the last of the qualifying series played at Packard Park here yesterday, Pierpoint Motors, of Pittsburgh, gaining a 3-1 victory over the Distillers, thereby qualifying to meet Holley Carburetor in the first round proper.

The game was one in which both teams excelled alternately, Pittsburgh showing marked superiority in the initial period scoring three goals in 25 minutes, and Walkerville dominating the play during the greater part of the second half. Jim Moreman was the scoring ace, the visiting center registering all three tallies and being a constant menace to the opposing defense.

Considering the muddy surface, the exhibition was fast, the Pierpoints appearing to revel in the mud and displaying greater driving power than the Canadians. Failure on the part of Walkerville halves to recover and slowness in clearing brought the Distillers' downfall, the defect not being remedied until the game had been practically lost.

The visting team was well balanced, three former players from the Heidelberg Club, twice national amateur champions, appearing in the lineup. Holley is confronted with a stiff task when the teams meet here December 29, the result depending in a great measure upon the ground condition at that time. The lineup:

| Pierpoints—3. | | Walkerville—1. |
|---|---|---|
| Marshall | G | Wilson |
| Schiang | R.B. | Clark |
| Stenzel | L.B. | Allan |

Referee—D. Evans. Time of halves—45 minutes. Scorers—Pittsburgh: Moreman 3; Walkerville: Clark.

GALLATIN VICTOR

Cecil Loses National Amateur Cup Tilt By 7 to 2.

By TOM BIRKS

Playing a brilliant driving game on a heavy field, the Gallatin Soccer Club advanced in the National Amateur Cup by swamping the Cecil team, of the Chartiers Valley League, by 7 goals to 2 yesterday.

Fans watching the Monongahela machine smashing the ball into the net must have figured it was the Green and Gold of Heidelberg, but it wasn't, it was a team drilled in the same fundamentals. With the hard-hitting Sickles holding Cecil in a vice-like grip, Secane, Benich and the rest of the forwards banged away relentlessly at Godfrey's charge.

Gallatin scored five goals in the initial half, and must have figured the game was in the bag, for it made the first substitution of the season, when Rossi replaced Secane at inside left. Secane scored two goals in the first half.

A big crowd watched the game, which was of the typical cup tie variety. The home forwards immediately put on pressure, and within five minutes Godfrey was beaten. Secane turned the trick with a good shot. This unexpected score took the Millers Run team by surprise, and before the visitors could settle down, Paton had scored again. Cecil was fighting hard to stop the fast moving Gallatin attacking line, but it seemed a hopeless task. Begone, Benick, and Secane scored again before the interval.

BRILLIANT LINE

Paton, Sickles and Meek, the home halfback line, were in brilliant form. Paton was the outstanding star, breaking up any move Cecil seemed to make, and making delightful passes to his wing.

Rossi came into the lineup for Secane after the interval, and lost little time in making his presence felt. He beat Godfrey from close in soon after entering. Gallatin, with its big lead, eased up in the second half, and Cecil reduced the score when Van Trussi tallied twice in quick succession. That did not seem to worry the home team, for just before the finish Grilli smashed the ball into the net for the last goal.

The only feature of the second half was the saving of a penalty kick by Benick, Gallatin goalkeeper. Godfrey made a good attempt to score, but Benick brought off a brilliant save. Gallatin seems to be a big threat in the amateur. Defeating a Chartiers Valley League club by a one-sided score is a great achievement. The whole team looked good, but Paton should be commended for his brilliance. The lineup:

| Gallatin—7. | | Cecil—2 |
|---|---|---|
| Benick | G | Godfrey |
| Murphy | R.B. | Vallet |
| Pickovitz | L.B. | Preaux |
| Sickles | C.H. | Geoghegan |
| Meek | L.H. | Behling |
| Secane | O.R. | J. Preaux |
| Begone | I.R. | H. Preaux |
| Grilli | C. | Van Trussi |
| Benick | I.L. | Godfrey |
| Secane | O.L. | J. Cherokee |
| Rossi | I.L. | H. Cherokee |

GERMAN SPORT VICTOR

The German Sport Club came through to swamp the Corinthians, 4 to 2, while Glendale shut out Beadling, 1 to 0. The Heidelberg Eagles bowed before Thoms Run, 3 to 0, and Clan Douglas and the Pittsburgh Celtics battled to a 1-1 deadlock.

Union Switch outclassed Crafton Heights, 3 to 0, and Lewis S. C. and Celtic A. A. played to a scoreless tie. New Castle was blanked by Crucible Steel, 2 to 0; Beaver Falls tripped Sewickley, 1 to 0, and Mather defeated Vestaburg, 3 to 0.

BUNNY BUNTACH SUSPENDED

Bunny Buntach, Braddock boxing impressario, who manages Buck McTiernan, George Panka and Bobby Burns, has been suspended for three months by the State Athletic Commission for staging a demonstration during the recent battle between McTiernan and Mickey Solmon at the Moose Temple. The announcement of the suspension was made today by Havey J. Boyle, Pittsburgh's member of the commission.

Commissioner Boyle also announced that starting January 1 boxers will be compelled to use the new tights and protectors ordered by the State Athletic Commission.

HACK IN MOOD TO FIGHT

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Hack Wilson, the Chicago Cubs' pugilistically-inclined outfielder, still was undecided today whether he would accept the offer made him for a ring battle with Arthur (the Great) Shires, Chicago White Sox first baseman.

Wilson said he would not make a decision until after a trip to Chicago, which he planned to make tomorrow or Wednesday. He presumably planned to confer with President Veeck, of the Chicago National League Club, who has asked him not to fight.

from the stands. I imagine our Dexter will be out here again one of these days.

The Cadets arrive in San Francisco next Sunday morning, and will be moved from Frisco to Palo Alto that day. The soldiers will put in six days practicing prior to their battle with Stanford December 28.

This contest is attracting wide attention here, and will be played before a sell-out crowd. Already, one must mortgage the barn for tickets. The boys on Forty-second and Broadway would get a kick out of scalping ducats for this game.

TECH SIGHTSEEING

The Tartans, now that the game is over and the season wound up, will put in a few days of sightseeing here on the coast. Yesterday they went to Catalina Island, after having been lavishly banqueted and feted at the Ambassador Hotel Saturday night by the Carnegie Tech Clan of Los Angeles.

Today, the time will be spent in viewing the movie studios of Hollywood. Tomorrow, they'll make other Los Angeles places of interest and will depart at 8 p. m. for Palo Alto.

The return trip home will begin Thursday, with Ogden, Utah, the first port of call. The boys will be home the day before Christmas, just in time to hang up their stockings.

JONES TO TAKE 110

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Biff Jones, Army coach, will take 110 football players on the long trek West to meet Stanford at Palo Alto, Dec. 28. The players will be drawn from the varsity scrub and Plebe teams. Only members of the A squad, or varsity, will participate in the game, but the scrubs and Plebes will be used for practice while on the road or at Palo Alto before the game. The Army team will leave here December 18 in a special train.

Shires Is Set For Second Go Tonight

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires and George (Supergreat) Trafton, will say it with gloves tonight.

After a week of bandying conversation—liberally sprinkled with personal pronouns — Shires, the fighting baseball player, and Trafton, the battling football player, will wallop each other for five rounds or less on Promoter Jim Mullen's card at the White City Arena.

"Just a stepping stone to bouts with the best of them," was Shires' pre-fight statement.

"Shires' fight career will end tonight — suddenly," Trafton said.

It will be Shires' second fight for profit, and his aim is to score his second consecutive knockout victory. Shy Arthur also expects it to serve as a tune-up bout for his world series battle with Hack Wilson, slugging Chicago Cub outfielder —if the project does not collapse as it threatens to do.

Trafton today publicly announced that he had received a black eye in training. He doesn't want the fans to think after the fight is over that he received it from Shires.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—The bond market simmered quietly today, making small gains and losses in even proportions and maintaining the firm undertone it held throughout last week's dull trading. Not much more is expected of the list until the seasonal effect on money rates has disappeared, for banks and corporations are keeping their funds liquid to meet the demands of the holiday business and the unusually large dividend and interest disbursements which fall due around the first of the year. These payments, together with the mid-December returns to investors in bonds and stocks, are estimated at close to one and three-quarter billions, a large part of which will be available for reinvestment.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

MARKET BEGINS WEEK WITH HESITANCY

Trading Dull and Popular Shares Show Inclination To Sag—Utilities Heavy

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—The stock market began the new week with extreme hesitancy today. The highly checkered market of last week, interrupting the rapid rally from the low of mid-November, appeared to have injected a new note of uncertainty into market sentiment, and there was a noteworthy tendency to lighten accounts and curtail operations pending definite evidence of a trend.

Trading was dull, and popular shares were inclined to sag, with conspicuous heaviness in the utilities, where losses ran as high as 3 points or more. The news of the day, and the week-end was rather negative in character, and served only to intensify the market uncertainty. Failure of the Interstate Commerce Commission to announce over the week-end its consolidation plan, which was widely expected, was disappointing, and caused considerable profit taking in investment rail shares, although there was some spectacular activity in non-dividend payers.

MONEY FIRM

Call money held at 4½ per cent, but was available in the outside market at 4. The demand was light, however, and underlying credit conditions were not tested. Other monetary rates were unchanged. The large turnover of funds incident to the treasury refinancing failed to cause a ripple in the money markets. Foreign exchanges were firm, and continued outflow of gold was indicated. It was rumored that the French government plans repatriation of large balances here held.

November foreign trade figures were fairly satisfactory, showing a substantial increase in exports, but a still larger increase in imports. Reports over the week-end indicated further slacking of steel mill activity, but considerable confidence in the outlook for early next year.

MOVEMENTS IRREGULAR

Fox Film A was sent up 3 points on reports of a favorable plan of reorganization by the newly appointed trustees, but more than lost its gain when official confirmation could not be obtained. Coppers were largely sluggish, but Phelps Dodge was bid up more than 4 points in active trading. Some of the minor rails, such as Chicago Great Western common and preferred, Western Pacific, common and preferred, Chicago and Eastern Illinois preferred and Peoria and Eastern were bid up 1 to 4 points, but such shares as New Haven, Chesapeake and Ohio, Atchison, and Union Pacific lost 2 to 5 points.

American Water Works, National Biscuit, Stone and Webster, General Electric, Johns Manville, Standard Gas and U. S. Industrial Alcohol dropped 5 to 8 points, and such shares as U. S. Steel, American and Foreign Power, Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse Electric and American Smelting sagged 3 to 4.

POWER OUTPUT OFF IN NOV.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(AP.)—Based on the consumption of electrical energy in 3,600 manufacturing plants, industrial activity in the United States during November was 8.7 per cent under October, and 7.8 per cent under November, 1928, which indicates a somewhat more than normal seasonal curtailment of general manufacturing operations, Electrical World reports. The average monthly industrial activity for the first 11 months of the current year, however, was 8.1 per cent above operations for the same period last year. Three factors were given as the cause for this decline; the usual seasonal decrease, hesitation due to the stock market movements and a reaction from the special rise in general manufacturing activity which began during the fall months of last year.

Comparing current plant operations with the same time last year, two manufacturing groups reported a gain, eight reported a drop, and one group—lumber products—reported activity the same as last year. By comparison with November, 1928, the greatest drop was reported by the automobile industry with a 30.4 per cent decrease. Rubber products came next, with 21.4 per cent; rolling mills and steel plants, 17.2 per cent and textiles, 12.8 per cent.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

Federal Mining and Smelting Company reports for quarter ended October 31 net earnings 1,721,199 after experience but before depreciation, depletion and taxes, equal after preferred dividends to $12.83 on 50,526 common shares against $125,013 in preceding quarter or $12.96 on corresponding shares $1,349,719 in 1928 quarter or $7.77 a share on common. Net earnings for nine months to October 31 were $2,258,114 or $20.65 on common against $1,660,926 or $15.19 on common 1928 period.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—Influenced by extreme scantiness of world shipments and by unlooked for upturns in Liverpool quotations, wheat values here averaged higher early today. Besides, South Argentine yields were disappointing, and European continental countries gave signs of better demand for wheat from the United States. Opening ½ to 1½ higher, Chicago wheat afterward reacted, but then rallied again. Corn, oats and provisions were firm, with corn starting ¼ to ⅝ up, and subsequently holding near initial figures.

An outstanding feature in the wheat trade today was that the amount of wheat on ocean passage showed a falling-off of more than 2,500,000 bushels in the last week, and is now but 26,664,000 bushels compared with 54,984,000 bushels a year ago. This exhibit was due to world shipments for the week being far less than usual, 10,674,000 bushels against 17,257,000 bushels at this time last year.

Coupled with announcement of striking curtailment of supplies of wheat afloat on the ocean were advises today that visible stocks of wheat in Germany are now 22,000,000 bushels smaller than a year ago. Traders here friendly to higher prices were also giving sharp attention to reports that harvest returns in Southern Argentine territory are not equal to general expectations. Fairly good-sized export business in wheat from North America over the week-end was also a subject of notice.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—The Curb Market drifted lower in dull trading today. Pressure was most conspicuous against the utilities, but the general list was inclined to heaviness. Leading shares, however, were well taken on recessions, and displayed considerable resistance.

Heaviness of the "big board" appeared to be the principle factor influencing this market. Furthermore, the backings and fillings of last week, interrupting the sharp rally from the mid-November lows, had proved highly discouraging to traders, and there was a marked inclination to lighten accounts and await developments.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Manufacturers to Raise, Not Cut Wages?

By B. C. FORBES

INDUSTRY and business and stocks are acting in line with expectations. Irregularity is the keynote. Activity throughout the nation is somewhat less than during the closing weeks of last year, as is natural following the very severe upheaval in the stock market.

Should stocks continue to exhibit last weeks resistance powers, the effect upon sentiment would unquestionably be felt in every line of trade and industry.

Given a "strongish" stock market between now and December 31, the new year will open under reasonably favorable auspices, and before the year is very old the United States should again get into a forward stride.

LAST weeks major developments were on the whole favorable. Heavy gold exports are not deplorable. Wall Street's crazy bidding for funds at ridiculous prices during the later stages of the boom drained the rest of the world of loanable capital.

Part of the $330,000,000 brought in since November of last year is going back. This will mean a better balanced distribution of the world's total supply of the yellow metal.

Strengthening of the monetary position in foreign countries will prove a good thing for us. The flotation of foreign loans here will likewise stimulate purchasing of American goods for export.

THE Federal Reserve Board is now co-operating vigorously to insure easy money conditions.

Notwithstanding the mid-month dividend requirements, and heavy year-end disbursements, call money closed the week at 4½ per cent, time money at 5 per cent and commercial paper at 5 to 5¼ per cent. A year ago call facilities cost 6 per cen, time money 7½ to 7¾ per cent and commercial paper 5½ to 5¾ per cent.

While some stiffening in rates, especially call rates, will be logical during the next few weeks, cheap money promises to be abundantly available shortly after the turn of the year. This cannot fail to have a helpful effect on both securities and business.

DESPITE the recent setback, 1929 will make a very creditable industrial, railway, public utility, general business, agricultural and employment showing. The vast majority of enterprises will be able to report better earnings than in 1928, or even in any previous year. Agriculture, too, is in a somewhat better condition today than at any time since the disastrous collapse of 1920-1921.

Railway and public utility companies, almost without exception, have greatly strengthened their financial position. The 1929 payroll will also compare creditably with that of any other year.

It is well to keep these vital facts prominently in mind at this time, when many people are disposed to become unduly pessimistic because of the losses sustained in stock speculation.

HOW much significance lies in the fact that General Motors has announced increases in the price of several of its cars.

After other panicky spasms, wage-reductions and price reductions were the rule. Industrial leaders having pledged themselves not to cut wages or to curtail drastically their capital expenditures, are we now to see, instead of general price cutting, an effort to maintain prices on a level permitting the carrying out of such policies even should total demand fall off moderately?

Admittedly co-operation has been developed as never before inside many basic industries. Has it been developed sufficiently to make feasible in many lines action similar to that taken by General Motors?

Events alone can answer this interesting and important question.

So far the general commodity price level has not been demoralized by demoralization in stock speculation—an encouraging fact.

Any widespread outbreak of cut-throat competition might have an unpleasant effect on the vast amount of merchandise sold on the installment plan and not yet paid for.

The marked growth of installment selling in recent years injects a new element into the whole economic situation.

It constitutes an additional reason why no stone should be left unturned to keep unemployment within bounds.

After violent see-sawing instigated by vicious bear attacks, the stock market found the bulls in control before the week ended. A "scallopy" market must be looked for. But so many good stocks are bargains that trend should be toward [illegible] levels—unless, [illegible] all present plans for [illegible] business depression [illegible] miscarry. They shouldn't.

November Rubber Consumption Off

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Consumption of crude rubber of all classes by manufacturers in the United States last month is estimated by the Rubber Manufacturers' Association at 27,659 long tons. This compares with 34,800 tons in October and 37,461 tons in November, 1928. Crude rubber imports last month totaled 40,621 long tons, a decrease from the 43,725 tons imported in October, and compared with 34,720 tons in November, 1928.

BEARS UNABLE TO UPSET MARKET

Rally's Momentum Dies Down, But Technically Exchange Stands Firm

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—After having recovered more than 35 per cent of its losses in the late October-early November debacle, the stock market last week showed signs that the momentum of the rally was dying down.

But even under vicious bear drives the market revealed signs of a better technical position. The prodigious disgorging of borrowed funds by the stock market has put shares into the hands of individuals and companies better able to hold them through the vicissitudes of the market place. The four weeks' rally derived the fountains and springs of strength from three principal technical factors. First, reduction of the floating supply by steady bargain hunting by investors, especially in odd lots. Second, short covering. And, third, the reported indisposition on the part of financiers to unload support stock which they felt had been acquired cheaply and could be readily carried under new money conditions.

SENTIMENT IMPROVES

Of course, the psychological basis for the upturn came from the recovery of the nerves of business executives. President Hoover's White House conferences and the establishment of a business council for co-ordination helped to improve sentiment, and analysis of the business setting indicated that the usual precursors of a substantial and prolonged depression were lacking.

The immediate course of the market will depend on the Wall Street view of the near-term business outlook. Acute students recognize, of course, that there is a lag of about three months between the formulation of new construction projects and the actual employment of workers with picks and shovels.

John J. Bernet, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Pere Marquette and chief operating executive in the Van Sweringen group, in commenting on the railroad building program, said:

"Practically all the railroads with a prosperous 1929 behind them had set their 1930 programs before the stock market flurry came about. They were planning to spend roughly a billion dollars on new equipment and facilities. It has been our policy to plan our expenditures on a program that carries us steadily toward a certain point and not to be turned aside by the usual ups and downs. Aside from certain expenditures for continuing improvements, the railroads plan their expenditures to enable them to take care of their business. There is a definite fixed relationship between a railroad's earning power and its expenditures, however, and when all is said and done, the railroads can spend money only if they earn it.

COURAGE WINS

"The remarkably efficient railroad service of today exists not because wages and materials are high; or because taxes are going higher every minute; or because the rate structure has steadily been nibbled away every month since 1922. It exists because the railroads have had the courage to throw hundreds of millions of dollars into the breach to improve the properties, and with the loyal and intelligent support of the employees produce from within themselves the economies which have offset the outlay. But there is an end to that process, and the end is here. The next step in the process in an intelligent consolidation plan which will eliminate unnecessary duplications of expense and service.

"For the last six years the American railroads have been spending an average of $2,000,000 every calendar year for betterments. No one will dispute the effect of such an economic contribution to the general prosperity of business. In all, during 1928, the railroads spent close to six billion dollars for improvements, materials and supplies, wages, taxes and dividends. The expenditure of that sum not only provided life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness for a million and a half railroad men and their families, but it provided employment for another million and a half of people in industry. Throw a section of our people like that into a period of depression and the other sections quickly are affected.

PROFITS EXPECTED

"But I have no idea that anything like that is going to happen. I think that generally speaking corporate expansion programs planned for 1930 will be carried through and that in business there will be generally a normal trend of profits. I have no idea that the period of recession through which we are passing will continue more than three or four months and I fully expect to see the curve start upward again with the coming of spring."

Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the United States Chamber of Commerce and confidant of President Hoover, in a recent speech before the Economic Club in New York expressed his belief that a revival might be slow in the first half of 1930, but that "conditions would regain their regular equanimity before the year is out."

California Crude Oil Output Down

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16.—California daily crude oil production for week ended December 14 was 699,750 barrels, against 703,750 barrels for week previous, a decrease of 4,000 barrels.

Production Reduced by Pittsburgh Coal

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

DECLINING industrial demand for coal has resulted in curtailment of production at several of the mines of the Pittsburgh Coal Company. Little change has taken place in prices which are still at the lowest point in several years.

Officials will not make any comment on the figures to be shown in the next annual report but it is generally believed that operations have been in the red for most of this year and that the income account will end with a deficit.

Losses have been reported since 1923. The deficit after all charges reached a peak of $2,175,949 in 1926 when the coal strike was at its height. In each year since then the deficit has been reduced. A loss of $551,781 was reported for 1928.

Mystery Stock

THE action of the company's stocks during the past three years has been one of the mysteries of the market. Next month dividends on the $35,000,000 of 6 per cent preferred stock will have been in arrears for four years. These dividends are cumulative and stockholders are entitled to interest at the rate of 5 per cent annually on the unpaid accumulations. Nothing has been paid on the common stock since October, 1924.

The common is selling in the vicinity of 64. The preferred is only a few points below par. The year's high for the common was 83¾. The low was 54. After slumping to 29 during the dark days of the coal strike in 1926 the common made a high of 74½ in 1927 to the accompaniment of rumored mergers which never materialized. In 1928 the stock ranged between 78⅞ and 36⅛.

To Sell Properties

FOR the past year there have been repeated reports that the company is to sell a large block of its coal reserves and to use the funds to retire the preferred stock. These stories have been just as repeatedly denied by officials of the company.

In recent months steel companies have been scrambling to build up their raw material resources. Some coal land purchases have been made from other interests.

Since then the Pittsburgh Coal story has taken on more definite shape. There is little doubt that the company has had discussions with subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation. From fairly reliable sources it has been learned that people who are in a position to have first hand knowledge of such a deal have picked up blocks of the preferred stock at various times.

Won't Discuss Sale

WHEN he was last asked about the reported negotiations, J. D. A. Morrow, president of the coal company, said: "I do not care to say anything about it."

At the end of 1928 the company had 168,013 acres of unmined bituminous coal. At the present rate of production this would last for over a century. The company is land poor. Due to its inability to get more favorable action on the freight rate from this district to other markets the sales organization is having a long uphill fight. Local taxes paid on physical properties amount to $1,800,000 annually. A transaction which would lighten this burden and also reduce the capital structure would be very welcome.

Coking Coal Needed

ONE difficulty with the making of such a sale has been the fact that the greater portion of the company's coal is more suitable for steam than for by-product coking use. But recent experiments with cleaning and mixing with other types of coal have shown that a larger share of the product can be successfully used in by-product plants.

The results of this research have been particularly important since any purchases made by the Steel Corporation would be from a long range view point and would look towards the time when many of the best coking coal deposits will be depleted.

Huge Sum of Gold Shipped For Foreign Accounts Since Mid-October.

UPWARD of $30,000,000 gold was on the ocean highways bound for London and Paris yesterday, with a small shipment also headed for Berlin. The total of gold taken here for foreign account since the middle of October has reached $80,000,000 or thereabouts. No small aggregate, to be sure, and effort will probably be made to capitalize its bearish tinge marketwise. But we can readily afford to see that much and considerably more gold go out, in the opinion of some bankers, without becoming unduly apprehensive. It is pointed out, for example, that during the past week the Federal Reserve has released credit totaling in round figures about three times the amount of the indicated gold exports, thus working to offset the influence of the metal loss as far as credit conditions are concerned.

The action of the market thus far since the October-November break has been closely in line with precedent established in previous instances of similar character. From the high of September 7, the index compiled jointly by the Evening Post and the Standard Statistics Company, Inc., showed a drop of 113.2 points for 90 leading stocks, as of the low of the break on November 13. The rally which ensued from that date to the closing a week ago carried the average of those stocks back 40.2 points, equivalent to a recovery of approximately one-third the ground lost on the break. Such a rebound naturally paved the way for the reaction which ran to the extent of 12.4 points net to the closing on Thursday, not allowing for Friday's recovery of 3.2 points. For the next little while the market should tend to consolidate its position, with much depending, of course, on the status of technical conditions.

IN Friday's session Radio was one of the outstanding features on the upside. Wall Street heard that interests which were instrumental in guiding the market course of the stock some months ago are now accumulating the issue. Should the hook-up with International Telegraph and Telephone eventually be brought about it is felt that the value of Radio will be considerably enhanced. Companies engaged in the radio industry are now enjoying the best period of the year and in trade circles sales are reported to be up to expectations.

U. S. Steel Makes Bid for Atlas Cement

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Stockholders have been informed by the Atlas Portland Cement Company of an offer by the United States Steel Corporation to take over the assets of the cement concern in exchange for 180,000 shares of steel stock valued at $31,320,000.

In exchange for the stock, Steel Corporation would acquire the 890,211 shares of common stock of the Atlas company, together with its entire assets and good will. The preferred stock of the company was retired recently and there is no bonded indebtedness. Liabilities consisting of small items also will be assumed by the Steel Corporation under the plan.

Register have declared an extra dividend of $1, making total payments for the year $4 a share. Present indications are that earnings this year will be the best in the history of the company, and some estimates are that net income will approximate $6 a share on the 1,590,000 shares outstanding. Net income for the first nine months of this year was 23 per cent ahead of the corresponding period of 1928, and it is understood that European sales in October showed a gain of 54 per cent over the best previous month on record.

AGAIN it is being pointed out that the possibilities of a stock dividend on American Can are good. Surplus at the end of last year was $52,700,000, compared with outstanding stock totaling slightly in excess of $61,800,000. Results from the operations this year are expected to bring the latter figure to a parity with the outstanding stock. There has been a steady growth in earning power of American Can and, according to those who have been closely following the industry in which Can is engaged, the outlook for next year is bright. At the present time the regular annual dividend rate is $4, and an extra of $1 has been declared from time to time. Selling at 118, the stock yields 4.2 per cent.

The stock of Public Service of New Jersey has been prominent in the public utility group. Directors of the company recently increased the annual dividend rate and also declared an extra. Earnings have been on the upgrade and the continued growth in the population of territory served by Public Service is likely to result in further demands for its facilities. United Gas Improvement holds a substantial block of the stock, and the financial community would not be surprised should an increased return to stockholders be ordered as a result of the action of Public Service of New Jersey.

TRADE BALANCE FAVORS U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The Department of Commerce gives total value of exports of merchandise for November as $448,000,000 against $544,863,000 in November, 1928. Imports were $339,000,000 against $326,502,000 a year ago.

Excess of exports was $109,000,000 compared with $218,361,000 in the 1928 month.

Eleven months exports totaled $4,820,447,000 and imports $4,090,043,000 compared with $4,654,249,000 and $3,752,036,000, respectively, in the 1928 period. Leaving excess of exports $730,404,000 against $902,213,000 last year.

November gold exports were $30,289,000 and imports $7,123,000 against exports of $22,916,000 and imports of $29,591,000 in November, 1928, leaving excess of exports of $23,166,000. This compared with excess of imports of $6,675,000 in November, 1928.

Eleven months gold exports totaled $44,036,000 against $559,123,000 in the same time last year, while imports were $283,528,006 against $143,947,000, leaving excess of imports of $239,492,000 against excess of exports of $415,176,000 in the 1928 period.

The decrease in merchandise for the month was attributed to the decline in shipments of cotton which fell off $20,000,000 during the period.

The increase in exports of gold was attributed to liquidation of British stock, due to adjustment of the British market after the stock exchange decline.

On Broadway

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.

These Charming People

HERBERT BAYARD SWOPE, who was one of the greater editors, is without a doubt one of the grandest sportsmen in the land, but he sleeps in a skull cap with grease under it so that his hair will stay put.

Fred Astaire is a nice guy, too, but he smells like a barber shop.

Alevy, who has been at the Beaux Arts for 25 years, certainly is the best known man among the Men About Town, but every time he sees you he asks you if you think he ought to open up his own restaurant.

I admire Gilbert Miller more than he believes and appreciate what he is trying to do for the American theater, but he pats his plump front and brags that he is keeping it down, which he isn't.

Sinclair Lewis is among my favorite novelists, but after one drink he makes a speech that lasts at least an hour.

Clarence Darrow excites me every time he has anything to say or write, but he wears what is practically a shoe string for a dress tie.

I discovered recently that Frisco can be comical at spells, but I can never forgive him for carrying around a bottle of perfume.

I consider Abe Lyman one of the better orchestra organizers, but he bores me with his arguments that when a critic is a friends of yours he shouldn't give you a sour notice.

HIS PANTS TOO SHORT

DALLETTE WILSON, the attorney for the "Sons o' Guns" hit, has swell manners and other attributes, but his dress pants are too short.

Edgar Selwyn is a charming person (even if we couldn't get that way over some of his productions), but when he bars George Jean Nathan from his plays he brings himself down to the level of other cowards.

Ralph Barton, Life's critic, can have my indorsement (as if he needs it) any time, but he wears a ring around the knot of his cravat.

Lou Shurr, listed here recently as the ace of casting geniuses, telegraphs people who open in new shows on the premiere night, but the wires all read the same saeson in and season out.

Norman Rockwell painted a swell front cover for the Xmas issue of the Saidee Eve Post, but for inspiration he leaned heavily on Edwin Abbey's drawing of Tony Lumpkin in the 1886 edition of Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer."

Ernest Boyd, the litrrrrry man, belongs high on the list of authors to read, but he takes falls at parties to get laughs.

Marjorie Oelrichs, whose likeness is probably on the back of your theater program, throws nice parties at her East 57th street shack, but you come away with a pantsfull of lint.

Ted Robinson, of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, is unquestionably one of the better newspaper paragraphers, but he pronounces it "hoopee."

William Gaxton fits snugly into the leading role in "Fifty Million Frenchmen" and he is immensely comical in that magic travesty, but he mopes over what one critic says.

HOOVER EATS PEANUTS

JOHN PRICE JONES, the playactor, is an all-right guy, considering this and that, but he wears knickers.

Libby Holman of "The Little Show" is a swelegant syncopator, but she just bought a Ford town car (with a fur-coated chauffeur), with which to impress the natives.

Herbert C. Hoover is a swell President, and all that sorta thing, but he actually eats peanuts in bed.

Mark Hellinger, who shelves the Daily News in New York for The Daily Mirror on New Years can toy with words as Keating toys with canary bird cages, but he hasn't yet learned the secret of how to annoy as many people as well as, well, as Retlow Chinwell, for instance.

Paulino's courage in the ring is not to be questioned and he is a nice guy, but he always reeks of garlic!

Jack Dempsey will always be "The Heavyweight Champion of the World" so far as an army of us are concerned, but he talks falsetto.

BROWN SHOES AND SPATS

JIMMY WALKER is the greatest mayor New York ever had, believe you me, but he wears spats with brown shoes, which you never, never will see listed under "What The Well-Dressed Men Are Wearing."

A. H. Woods is the most affable man on Broadway, and one of the most generous, too, but he's a pansy in the dark, and can't sleep unless all the lights are on.

George White, the revusical producer, is a neat dresser, but probably would be the neatest dresser if his collars weren't so tight.

Samuel Shipman, the playwright, has more friends than any two columnists you wish to mention, but he drinks it from the saucer.

And Robert Garland, the Evening Telly's drama commentator from Baltimore, always was a first-rate journalist, but not until this week did he indelibly impress us as being a wise-guy until he observed that Broadway is merely Main Street magnified with the spotlight thrown on it.

Banquet Arranged By Business Men

The Mt. Oliver-Knoxville Business Men's Association have set Thursday, January 16, as the date for a banquet to ingoing and outgoing officers.

Real Estate

An exchange deal has been completed by which Charles S. Faulkner has conveyed to Edward W. Stevenson 52x135 feet with a stucco bungalow and garage in Atlanta avenue, Mt. Lebanon. Mr. Stevenson deeded 105x129 feet along a concrete road in Bethel Township.

A property at the southwest corner of Shady avenue and Tilbury street, Squirrel Hill, has been sold by Mary E. Wylie to Martin Silverman. The lot is 92x100 feet.

A brick house at 1208 Colwell street, Eighth Ward, lot 24x192 feet, has been sold by Yetta Freidin to Solomon Cantor.

Two frame dwellings in Brownsville road, South Side, lots approximately 20x64 feet each, have been sold by Noah Womack to Rhoda A. Neel.

Walter P. Fraser has constructed a residence on 75x125 feet in Oxford road, Ben Avon Heights. The lot was purchased from Arthur F. Purkiss.

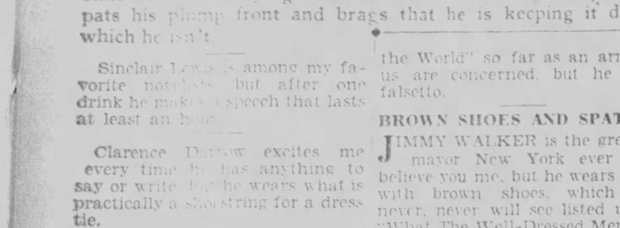
A property on the west side of Maplewood avenue near Grand avenue, East End, has been sold by Mary L. Montgomery to George W. Anderson. The lot is 40x136 feet.

In Coraopolis, John Heinauer has sold to William F. Lantz 30x164 feet in Ferree street.

A property in Amherst avenue, West View, lot 40x150 feet, has been sold by Richard E. Jones to Daniel H. Dunkle.

In Carnegie, Alma Nelson sold to William H. Heppelwhite 25x150 feet in Morrow avenue.

In McKees Rocks, Frank A. Herbst has sold to A. A. Singer 32x100 feet in Greydon avenue.



TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the comletter. To change "mine" by adding "d" to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

In this season of good will and peace, take a good look at this here, now, Associated Press dispatch—

LONDON. — The Prince of Wales and his brother, George, have taken up knitting and crocheting—a pastime that is becoming increasingly popular among the nobility and the gentlemen of the select upper social circles in Great Britain.

Other distinguished figures adept at knitting include Lords Harewood, Gainford and Holmpatrick.

With a labor government in the saddle, it is very clever of the idle class in Britain to get to work.

* * *

Wouldn't it be nice if some of the British lecturers who try to diagnose American could be taught something more useful—like knitting?

* * *

But they wouldn't attend to it.

BIG IDEA DEPARTMENT

Big Idea Editor,

Dear Sir and Brother:

I have been thinking the matter over and have hit upon a plan for simplifying the Christmas ordeal. Instead of husbands giving wives presents that merely make them unhappy, let every married man merely save up $100, which he will exchange at his bank for a $100 bill. Then let him tear the bill into small bits and fling into a good stiff breeze.

Cornucopia Doakes.

Vare Case Action by Senate Inexcusable, Unjustifiable, Wanton Tyranny

After delaying action for nearly three years, the United States Senate, by a vote of 58 to 22, has finally denied a seat in that body to William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania.

At the time of his election Vare was over 30 years of age. He had been more than nine years a citizen of the United States. And when he was elected he was an inhabitant of Pennsylvania. He was not holding any other office under the United States.

Vare possessed, therefore, all the qualifications of age, residence, citizenship, and inhabitancy set forth in the Constitution.

But the Senate denied Vare his seat because, in the opinion of the Senate, his expenditures as a candidate in the primaries exceeded the amount which a majority of the Senators deemed proper. In so doing he violated no law, state or federal. HE MERELY OPPOSED THE PLEASURE OF THE SENATE.

This denial is the most tyrannical abuse of power of which the Senate has ever been guilty.

This denial is the most wanton nullification of the deliberate action of a sovereign state of which the Senate has ever been guilty.

This denial is the most obnoxious challenge to the sovereignties of the several states of which the Senate has ever been guilty.

Possessing all of the qualifications enumerated in the Constitution for membership in the Senate, having presented a certificate of his election duly signed by the governor of his state, the well-settled practice of the Senate demanded at least that Vare be permitted to take his seat and hold that seat until it was declared vacant or until he was expelled.

But the Senate abused its power, violated its well-settled practice, deprived the state of Pennsylvania for nearly three years of its constitutional representation in the Senate, and finally rejected the man, whom the people of Pennsylvania duly and constitutionally elected to represent them in the Senate.

By its extraordinary course in the case of Mr. Vare, the Senate has demonstrated its unfitness to remain the unlimited judge of its own membership.

But the only way in which the Senate can be deprived of that power, so grossly abused in the case of Vare, is by the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution.

Such an amendment should compel the Senate to respect the qualifications fixed in the Constitution for membership in the Senate and admit to his seat in the Senate a duly elected Senator when "he brings with him or presents a credential consisting of a certificate of his due election from the executive of his state."

Until the Constitution is thus amended, every state in the Union will be in danger of suffering the same nullification of its will and the same challenge to its sovereignty which the Senate's denial of a seat to Mr. Vare has inflicted upon the state of Pennsylvania.

Commissioners Should Give Fund for Probe

Samuel H. Gardner, district attorney, has implied his readiness to comply with the recommendation of the election frauds committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association that there should be an investigation relative to the wholesale issuance of tax receipts on the eve of election and that the probe extend into the offices of the county treasurer and delinquent tax collector. The purpose would be to ascertain "who are responsible for the many daring frauds which have been perpetrated."

Mr. Gardner, in a letter to the commissioners, cited the bar committee report and stated that an appropriation of $7,000 would be needed. To this he would add $3,000 remaining from a previous appropriation of $15,000 for an audit of the county's fiscal affairs. The commissioners are said to be not very warm on the request. They already have appropriated large sums and have seen little of a concrete nature in return.

Yet the public, we are certain, will uphold them if they provide money to continue what would be another link in a series of investigations, including a grand jury probe that uncovered much evidence of irregularity but returned no indictments. And we feel certain, too, that there will be censure from the public should the commissioners decide not to make the desired appropriation. After spending so much it would be unwise to stop at what might prove to be the very threshold of the door that should be opened.

This is not to insinuate that either the county treasurer or delinquent tax collector, both men of high standing in the community, is, or should be, regarded with suspicion. But it is public knowledge that a "fraudulent" assessment book found its way surreptitiously into the office of the delinquent tax collector a short time prior to an election. The law is elastic in the matter of issuance of tax receipts and a dangerous custom has grown therefrom.

Those who know the treasurer and delinquent tax collector are sure of their fidelity. Their reputation is such that their integrity is not questioned. And each, no doubt, would welcome any investigation that would remove them from the glare of a false light. For that reason, as well as the evident one based on public policy, the commissioners should co-operate in seeing this thing through to the end.

He Makes Good Soup—

Is Rewarded, and Deserves It.

Men are, largely, what they eat.

The underfed MAN has an underfed BRAIN.

Good food makes good blood. Good blood makes a strong brain, and a strong brain produces good thought.

The time will come when the art of cooking, for it IS an art, and one of the most important, will be recognized as it should be.

When human beings are really civilized the best rewards will be for the teachers—teachers of children and of men, for they FEED THE BRAIN.

Next in importance will come GOOD COOKS, that feed the body supplying health and strength upon which the brain's value depends.

The City of Camden, N. J., ever growing, with a big new bridge leading to Philadelphia, is proud that one of its citizens, Louis Charles DeLisle, has been decorated by the French government with the Order of the Chevalier du Merite, because he is a first-class cook and knows how to make first-class soup.

ALL food is important. But good SOUP is perhaps the most important single item in the diet of adult men, as milk is the most important item in the diet of young children.

Some Frenchman would tell you, and we are not here to contradict him, that really good wine is at least as important as good soup, good meat or anything else, since good wine contains the iron that the blood needs, and the tannin, necessary the blood vessels.

However, you cannot get GOOD wine in the United States, ly bootleg wine.

And consequently the importance of good soup, which imulates the appetite, warms the stomach, contains valuable ourishment, becomes all the greater.

Mr. DeLisle, who knows how to cook everything artistically, from a vol-au-vent-a la financiere to a filet de chevreuil lque, happens to specialize in soups because he is employed y Dr. Dorrance, head and owner of the Campbell Soup Company at Camden, N. J.

Many Americans do not appreciate the importance of good the French appreciate it when they send all the way the ocean the decoration "for merit" to a man who ws how soup should be made and the ingredients selected.

In France, where the people are healthy and live long, everybody, from the humblest peasant to the President of the Republic and the French Rothschilds in their mansions near the Place de Triomphe, have their soup every day, always for dinner, peasants and school children for breakfast and dinner.

The French might well write above the entrance to public buildings, "Bonne Soupe, Bonne Sante," "Good Soup, Good Health," as they now write "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity."

Soup containing juices of meats and of vegetables, stimulates the flow of gastric juice, prepares the stomach for food, stimulates digestion, adds to strength.

Let children have soup at least ONCE a day, and the rest of the family also.

Mr. DeLisle deserves his Order of the Chevalier du Merite. To make good soup is an act of merit.

SENATOR GRUNDY

By Herbert Kaufman

IT will require several timber tracts to furnish paper for the news and editorial comment scheduled to follow Senator Grundy's addition to the "most august deliberative body on earth."

Controversy will rage as to the Chamber's power to refuse the seating of Pennsylvania's chosen son. The Congressional Record will ululate with philippics, and the very flower of prairie oratory will indefinitely be woven into garlands to decorate the Grundian brow—garlands heavily interspersed with SPRIGS OF POISON IVY.

However HIS own state may regard Gov. Fisher's appointment, majority opinion will define it as an impudent and INDEFENSIBLE political gesture—an insult to the group of commonwealths which Grundy has declared unfit for economic parity with the rest of the Union.

Mr. Grundy's CONFESSED convictions hardly qualify him to interpret the majesty of the United States.

MR. GRUNDY's views upon the Constitution and the wisdom of its framers, render his presence offensive at the Capitol.

Mr. Grundy is too fervent an advocate of special privilege, the prior rights of industrialized capital and the sacrosanctity of high tariff, to become a worthy trustee and responsible steward of national hopes.

Mr. Grundy is an ADMITTED lobbyist—he concedes that he has more or less successfully swayed legislative action and endeavored to secure for an association of Keystone manufacturers, concessions and advantages, by exerting backstage influence upon Congresses and Assemblies.

Mr. Grundy regrets that Idaho, Arkansas, Montana and sundry other trans-Mississippi and Southern sovereignties are vested with full franchises, and enjoy unrestricted peerage with the populous and affluent East.

THERE is no such word as "sympathy" for agriculture's problems in Mr. Grundy's bright lexicon.

His entire career has been that of a biased pleader—an exponent of CLASS WELFARE rather than MASS PROGRESS.

He has consistently opposed the passage of child labor laws and resisted the enlargement of workingmen's compensation grants.

His appointment is an affront to democracy, an affliction to his party and embarrassment to the Administration.

OF him, it can never be said, that "his errors were uniformly those of a grand and glorious intellect, scarce less splendid in failure than in triumph"—a tribute inspired by Edmund Burke's address to the Electors of Bristol—of which speech, as a contemporary observes, "it were well if the people both of England and America, would read, mark, learn and inwardly digest the following passages:

"(Your representative) ought not to sacrifice his enlightened conscience to you, to ANY man or to any SET of men living.

"It is a trust from Providence, for the abuse of which he is deeply answerable.

"Parliament is NOT a Congress of Ambassadors from different states and of hostile interests, which interests each must maintain as an agent against other agents; but Parliament is a deliberate assembly of ONE nation, with ONE interest, and that, of the WHOLE."

Substitute "Senate" for "Parliament," and the cap fits the situation to a hair.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

WE MAY define a species as a kind of living thing which reproduces but does not interbreed normally with other kinds of living things, even though they may resemble it very closely. It keeps itself a distinct kind.

It has been observed that species fell into groups. There were, for example, the house mouse, the wood mouse, the harvest mouse, the wood mouse and the black and brown rats, all kinds keeping themselves apart as a rule, and following distinctive ways of life.

H. G. Wells

Dog, wolf, jackal and fox fall into a similar group, and cat, lynx, panther, leopard and tiger into another.

Such obviously similar groups of species were early assembled together as genera (singular, genus) under the common name.

Linnaeus in the eighteenth century introduced the modern practice of defining species by using a special terminology which was more exact and explicit than the often very loosely used common name.

The name of the genus was first given and then the precise specific name.

And instead of using homely words for genus and species it was more convenient to use a grammatically rather debased mixture of Latin and Greek, because this prevents confusion arising out of the loose use of the popular word.

Thus the house mouse is Mus musculus, the harvest mouse is Mus minutus, the lion is Felis leo, the leopard is Felis pardus.

And, to be uniform, man is called Homo sapiens, although no other species of Homo now exists. But once upon a time there were other species of Homo.

Occasionally the bones and other traces of a long-vanished race come to light, heavily built, with differences in the jawbone, neck, legs and skull so great as to constitute a different species, Homo neanderthalensis.

There is no exact definition of what a genus is, and there are wide differences of opinion and practice about genera. Some types of naturalist seem to like their groups big; others distinguish and break up.

With as much exactitude as possible, naturalists marshal genera into families and families into orders, orders into classes and classes into phyla (singular, phylum).

Finally there are the two great Kingdoms, the Animal and Vegetable Kingdoms. This makes a good framework in which to sort out the immense variety of living things we have now to consider. But the scheme is not an exact one.

2. WHAT IS MEANT BY A "PHYLUM."

NOW the greatest divisions (after the two kingdoms have been separated) used by the modern naturalist are called phyla.

A Phylum assembles all the creatures which possess one common ground-plan. Mouse and man, for example, have a common ground-plan; we need only repeat the words skull, backbone, ribs, liver, spleen, forelimb, hindlimb, to illustrate this point. Turn to a fly or star-fish and none of these fundamentals in the lay-out of man and mouse are to be found.

Fly and starfish, like man and mouse, are built up of innumerable cells and are bathed internally in a sort of blood and held together for united ends by a nervous system, but all the arrangement of the parts is different. They belong to different phyla.

As the reader knows, man and mouse are classified with a multitude of other creatures as Vertebrata. They are the beasts, birds, fishes, and reptiles; they are the most obviously important living things to us. Let us consider what are the characteristics that bring all these Vertebrata into one phylum. That we may do most illuminatingly by comparing the anatomy of a fish with those two mammals that have hitherto occupied our attention.

We will take the dogfish as a convenient type.

The dogfish is a miniature shark who prowls round our coasts in search of small crabs and worms—indeed, anything that he can devour—and who appears under a variety of names on the counters of our fried-fish shops.

Like an adult mammal, he has a head with eyes and mouth and nostrils that lead into an olfactory cavity; like an embryo mammal, he has a series of gill-slits on the sides of his throat.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Out to paddle about in a shower and sorry when the sun popped out, being a lugubrious soul who enjoys muggy weather. To Brentano's to subscribe for Punch, and browsing about bought several volumes I can ill afford.

Eugene O'Neil is reported sulking in a decaying chateau a few hours from Paris. He is going to write only one play a year—and we know one unimportant nit-wit who regards the announcement as perfectly dandy.

O'Neil has spurts of extraordinary playwrighting talent but for many of us his efforts were stodgy and his plots needed thickening. His plays had their moments but his neurotic remoteness was often felt in his lines. He rode to immense popularity on a sudden popular vogue, like that which caught up Michael Arlen, Rudy Vallee and many others. The playwright is enormously rich and with shrewd investments does not have to worry. In a single prosperous year he is said to have amassed one of those glacial and glamorous "cool millions."

Perhaps the most successful playwright just now along the Rialto is George S. Kaufman, whose genius as a collaborator has resulted in so many remarkable hits. Kaufman, despite his royalties, continues as a dramatic editor and reports at his office daily.

A true—and to me touching—story concerns a young colored driver of an automobile brought to New York from the South by a plantation owner. The employer, on his first day here, went into a restaurant on an out of way street for lunch. He told the boy to wait and, forgetting the instruction, left by foot from another side of the building. The next day at noon searchers found the lad still there, nodding at the wheel.

Something hot in displaying a fortune in jewels is reported at a recent ball for charity. One matron appeared bedecked in gems worth $750,000. She did not dance, but sat conspicuously on the sidelines with a gentleman in full evening dress, a private detective.

From Punch: "A Frenchman says British humor is very strange. He would probably see nothing funny in an Aberdonian plumber eating railway buns with his mother-in-law at Wigan."

We would have to have a laughing jag to roll on the floor over that one ourself.

A Harlemite writes that in a One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street pool parlor there is a blind man who can tell the number of the ball the cue ball hits by the click.

In the same fashion there was a sightless old gentleman in our town who would from his rocker on the front porch call out to passers-by by name before they spoke. He knew the entire neighborhood by footsteps.
